Second Woman Sought In Los Angeles Double Slaying

CLARK STILL REFUSES TO TELL STORY

Former L. A. Official Held On Murder Charges Is Host to Newspapermen SEEK PHOTOGRAPHS

Defense Witness in Marco Trial Believed to Be Able to Give Statement

BULLETIN
LOS ANGELES, May 25.—(UP)—Guy McAfee, former city policeman and at present reputed to be the power behind gambling in Los Angeles, had been placed under technical arrest in connection with the murders of Herbert Spencer and Charles Crawford, chief of Detectives Joe Taylor revealed today.

According to Captain Taylor, McAfee, tall, lanky and sometimes called the "string bean" by his associates, is not in jail. Taylor revealed that the asserted gambling baron is under guard of Detective Lieutenant J. B. McMullen outside of Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—(UP)—A second woman was being sought for questioning in the murders of Charles Crawford, boss politician, and Herbert Spencer, magazine editor, Blayne Matthews, chief investigator for District Attorney Burton Fitts, announced today.

Matthews refused to disclose the identity of the woman, but said that she like June Taylor, 23, attractive Los Angeles hotel owner, was an associate of Albert Marco, former vice power, now in San Quentin.

"She was a defense witness in Marco's trial," Matthews said. "We would like to find her and we want to find June Taylor."

David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney and at present a candidate for municipal judge, prosecuted Marco about three years ago and sent the vice baron to San Quentin on a conviction of assault to commit murder.

Clark, awaiting trial on charges that he shot Crawford and Spencer, continued to meet newspapermen at the county jail. He refused, however, to discuss any angles of the case.

Matthews said that the district attorney's office was searching for photographs assertedly taken of Clark after he had been induced to attend a gay party between the first trial of Marco, at which a jury disagreed, and the second trial at which Marco was convicted.

Authorities said that the photographs were used by Marco associates in a futile effort to force Clark to throw the Marco trial. "I am firmly convinced that the party was held," Matthews said. "There probably were photographs taken. We intend to find out if possible."

Finds Killer Of Husband In 'Showup'

CHICAGO, May 25.—(UP)—Mrs. Alice Costello stood last March 28 over the body of her husband, Patrick, and swore vengeance upon two bandits whom she had seen shoot him to death without provocation during a holdup.

Twice every week thereafter Mrs. Costello went to the detective bureau and watched long lines of men file under the lights at the "showups." She saw hundreds of suspects, brought in on every known kind of charge.

Yesterday she sat in her usual place watching the suspects file past. Suddenly she jumped to her feet.

"That's the one," she screamed. "That's the one. There—he's the man who killed my husband."

AMOS 'N' ANDY TAKE DAY OFF TO GO FISHING

Radio Stars Guests of One of President's Secretaries on Outing

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(UP)—"Amos 'n' Andy" returned to their Harlem luncheon and taxi business today after a day of trout fishing, hiking—and listening to the radio.

As Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll, they were guests of Lawrence E. Richey at his mountain camp near Concoctin, Md. Richey is one of President Hoover's secretaries.

The radio stars arrived early at the camp, immediately changed into old clothes, and set out on a friendly trout fishing contest. Andy, according to one of the other guests, returned to camp about noon, holding up a small trout and "reguested" about the big ones that got away. Amos got a nice string of fish.

The rest of the day was spent in clambering over nearby mountains and cooking a big fish supper. Then, although Sunday is their only night off the air, "Amos 'n' Andy" sat before a log fire, turned on the radio, and listened to some of their competitors until it was time to leave.

"They had a great time," said one of Richey's guests. "And played around the camp like boys. We all had a good time, because 'Amos and Andy' are just as funny in real life as they are on the radio."

All members of the party denied that politics was discussed in any way. Others who made the trip to the camp were M. H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting company; F. Russell, vice president; Charles Francis Coe, writer; and Thomas R. Shipp, Washington newspaper man.

RENO, Nev., May 25.—(UP)—The two Reno superior courts, with 41 divorce suits ready for hearing on the regular "washday" calendar, divided interest today with the county clerk's office where Jack Dempsey was expected to file suit against Estelle Taylor, his film actress wife.

ALEXANDER PANTAGES WINS FIRST SKIRMISH IN TRIAL

HOOVER SAVES $75,000.000 AT GATHERING

Parley at Camp Over Week End Will Result in Strict Economy

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(UP)—President Hoover will save about $75,000,000 in three governmental departments in the next three years, if tentative promises of heads of those departments come true.

The president returned from the Rapidan river camp this morning with the assurance of Postmaster General Brown that it should be possible to save $53,000,000 in the postal service—$38,000,000 in the year closing June 30, and $15,000,000 the following year. He gave the public indication of how this would be done.

On two previous week ends he has listened to promises of Secretary of War Hurley and Secretary of the Interior Wilbur of economies which in three years would total $22,000,000. The public was not informed regarding Secretary Wilbur's method. Secretary Hurley proposed to save at least $5,000,000 by abandoning some 20 to 50 obsolete and political forts.

Totals in the three departments were: Post office, $53,000,000; interior, $17,000,000; war, $5,000,000. It has been reported that Postmaster General Brown is in favor of increasing the first class postage rate to help reduce his deficit. Wilbur is said to believe that about the only economies possible in his bureau would be in the Indian bureau.

Any retrenchment there is sure to cause an uproar in congress, many of whose members feel the Indians are not receiving proper treatment as it is. Hurley's plan to abandon old forts is expected to meet with determined opposition from politicians and patriotic organizations, although in some few cases he already has received authorization.

Thus it appears there are many "ifs" involved in the execution of Mr. Hoover's economy campaign, at least in these three departments. The president's spokesman has promised an eventual accounting of how all the reductions are to be made.

Brown reported postal receipts this year would show a decline of $58,000,000, but that postal savings deposits were increasing. It was agreed the economy drive should not include discharge of employees or wage cutting.

1,000,000 Look On While Planes Stage Mimic War

BOSTON, May 25.—(UP)—High over the battle scenes of Revolutionary war days, the modern air armada of the American army sped today in mimic warfare as the invasion of an imaginary enemy was thrust aside.

While a crowd estimated at upward of 1,000,000 looked on from points of vantage along five miles of shore line, 39 pursuit, attack and bombardment planes, piloted by picked members of Uncle Sam's air forces, staged the thrilling sham battle against a background of cloudy skies over Old Harbor, Dorchester bay.

Ashes and Bones Being Analyzed As Murder Suspected

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—(UP)—Samples of ashes and charred bones were being analyzed today by City Chemist Rex Welch to ascertain if a gruesome find made by J. J. De Mouchelle held possibilities of a new murder mystery.

ILLINOIS FARM PRISONERS IN RIOTS SUNDAY

Four Shot and Many Are Injured in Fighting—Buildings Burned

VANDALIA, Ill., May 25.—(UP)—Four men were shot, a dozen others were injured in hand to hand fighting, and five state buildings lay in ruins today as the result of the latest outbreak in the series of riots that have flamed during recent months in Illinois penal institutions.

With the bayonets of national guardsmen bristling around the barbed wire enclosed farm and the "honorable" prisoners apparently subdued after a short but mad riot during which they burned their dormitories, officials felt certain all danger of trouble was past at the state farm for misdeameants about a mile from here.

Unlike the riots held in other prisons in recent months in protest to treatment, last night's riot here was said by officials to be directly the result of the failure of four men in an attempt to escape.

All the 600 prisoners had known for weeks, Supt. C. J. Metzger said, that the break was planned. He had known of it also and had placed special guards around the farm.

The four men named in the break were Charles Rogers, William Simmonds, Arthur Ragan and Charles Lewis. They were crawling under the fence, it was said, when the guards ordered them to halt. The men stood up and started their return but surrendered when peppered with buckshot. None was hurt seriously.

The shots awakened other prisoners. The riot started. The buildings were fired one after another. Police and firemen rushed from Vandalia. Scores of citizens joined them in surrounding the farm to prevent escape.

Inside the fences the prisoners shouted and danced about the burning buildings. When officers tried to enter the gates, the convicts drove them back with clubs and stones. About a dozen were injured in the hand to hand fighting. Chief of Police C. A. Hubbard, was among them. He was knocked unconscious by a rock.

Newfoundland In Financial Crisis

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, May 25.—(UP)—Newfoundland was faced with a grave financial crisis today, with default on government bonds apparently inevitable unless the British government aids.

The situation was due to failure to obtain underwriters in England, the United States and Canada for the Newfoundland $8,000,000 five per cent uncallable loan which brought no response—an unprecedented happening in the history of Newfoundland's self-government.

The date for closing of tenders for the loan was May 22. That evening the minister of finance was informed by the country's bankers in London, New York and Montreal that no bids had been received for the loan.

The body was taken to Los Angeles today after Coroner Charles D. Brown announced that he would not hold an inquest. He issued a certificate of death.

Mrs. Shields was in the house with Mrs. Jane Eggers at the time of the accident. She was cleaning her hair with an explosive fluid when it became ignited and exploded. She ran screaming from the room, her clothes a mass of flames.

James Bourne, of Boston, another visitor in the house, threw a blanket around the woman and beat out the flames. She was taken to the hospital by Dr. B. B. Mason, and lingered throughout the night.

All Charges To Be Tried Separately

William Jobelman Will Try Own Case and Discharges Attorneys

SAN DIEGO, May 25.—(UP)—Attorneys for Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire showman, scored their first victory today in his defense against charges filed against him as a result of the Hollywood "love market" investigation.

On motion of Pantages' attorneys, Judge L. N. Turrentine today refused the request of Bert Comptare, assistant district attorney, to try all the charges at once.

Judge Turrentine ordered two trials, one on the charges in which Pantages is involved, contributing to the delinquency and conspiracy to contribute to the delinquency of Lydia Nitto, a minor.

The other trial will be on charges of contributing, conspiracy to contribute and conspiracy to commit a statutory offense against Helen Livingston, also a minor.

Pantages, Jesse Shreve, wealthy investment broker, and William Jobelman and Olive Clark Day, the latter two the alleged heads of the "love market" all are named in the Little charges, but only Shreve, Jobelman and Mrs. Day are named in the Livingston charges.

Arguments for trial of each of the defendants separately was expected to be completed about noon. Jobelman sprang the surprise of the morning when he announced at the opening of court that he had dismissed his attorneys and would plead his own case.

Pilot, Passenger Escape Injury As Rolph Plane Falls

QUINCY, Calif., May 25.—(UP)—A pilot's "hunch" was credited today with preventing Governor James Rolph Jr., from riding an airplane that proved faulty and crashed.

C. C. Allen, the pilot, was tuning his plane Sunday while waiting for the governor to arrive after dedicating a new Rotary club here. A sudden resolve caused him to make a test flight, on which he took William Long, state traffic officer, as a passenger.

The plane had climbed only a few feet when the motor stalled. Allen attempted to land in a marsh, struck a soft spot and the plane nosed over. It was badly damaged.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

HOLLYWOOD, May 25.—[To the Editor of The Register:] "Ill Will" Mayors' trip to France was in another mess yesterday. The bells of Rouen played the "Star Spangled Banner." But the southern Mayors wouldn't move till they played "Dixie." Los Angeles held out for "California, Here I Come," and Maine for the "Stein Song." We better start a fund to get those boys back home and out of the banquet tables before July 4 or they will have us in another war. This little article of mine is used in the Paris Herald, so the funds will easily be raised by Patriotic Frenchmen. And bring Chaplin home with 'em, too. I want to hereby apologize for our Los Angeles Mayor, he was not discourteous in not touching the glass to his lips, he just couldn't trust himself with it that close.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

MOTHER USES THREE POISONS TO KILL BABES

Two Children Chloroformed While Asleep in Bed in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—(UP)—Mrs. Bernice "Bobby" Foley, 30, used three poisons as well as chloroform to kill her two children, Patricia, 8, and Robert, 6, late Sunday, police declared today.

She was arrested by police early today near the ocean, where she said she had gone to take her own life.

Police said that the mother was desperate because of loneliness and poverty.

Sobbing for death she was taken to the city prison, where two murder charges were lodged against her.

Mrs. Foley killed her children, police said, by holding a chloroform soaked cloth over their nostrils in the family home back of her restaurant here. To be certain of their death the mother then poured three deadly poisons down their throats.

The woman then rode a street car to the ferry building where she sent a telegram to Jack Saunders, U. S. navy seaman at San Diego, a friend.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 25.—(UP)—While Hartford clergymen were condemning the war department's army air maneuvers as a "warlike gesture" and an enemy of peace, F. Trubbe Davison, assistant secretary of war for aviation, similarly attacked what he termed "insidious and false propaganda" on the maneuvers, which, he said, was spread by communists.

Speaking of the dedication of Rentschler field, East Hartford, he denied statements the maneuvers would cost taxpayers an additional $3,000,000.

Investigators said they learned that Clark had the support of Gus McAfee, gambling king and rival of Crawford in Los Angeles politics. Crawford, it was believed, was seeking some way to ruin Clark's chances for the judgeship.

During a visit to the Crawford office the precautions the man had taken against the bullets from an enemy's gun was revealed to authorities. Crawford had an intricate system of electric wires and alarm signals woven about his private office.

The murdered man's hand, it was disclosed, was within two feet of a switch which would have sounded the alarms when he fell. Mortally wounded.

Because of his nearness to the alarm switch investigators believe Crawford may have attempted to jerk it into action.

Further efforts of the politician to ward off the untimely death he obviously feared, were shown in the strong locks and iron bars on the doors and windows of his office. He always carried a revolver, police said, and his brother George had for weeks acted as a personal bodyguard.

Dr. Gustav A. Bruegler, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, which Crawford joined not many months ago, declared among other things in building his sermon around the politician last night, that Crawford was trailed by Chicago gangsters.

The gangsters, according to the preacher, had a plot to kidnap Crawford and hold him for $150,000 ransom.

"He came to me last Tuesday," Dr. Bruegler stated, "and apparently was laboring under a premonition of death. He would tell me nothing of what was on his mind until I told him I planned to leave the city for a few days."

"Don't go away," Crawford was quoted, "I may need you."

THREE GUESSES

No, dear reader, it is not the Peanut Vendor with an ancient automobile horn. It's Jack Rose and his Chinese fiddle, heard ever WTAM, Cleveland. The receipts of the post office for 1930 were $8000, advancing it from third to second class. Mrs. Naylor has been connected with the post office for 15 years. At the time she began work as a clerk the receipts were only $400 a year.

The Newport Beach office now supplies star routes to Laguna Beach, Balboa Island and Corona Del Mar. Larger quarters are to be secured as soon as inspectors arrange for bids. The work of making the change, probably requiring several weeks. Miss Edith Leieritz, an employee of the post office for six years, becomes first clerk. After years of efforts to rid their land of species of cactus known as the spineless prickly pear, South African farmers have begun to cultivate it for stock food in dry seasons.

OUT-MAYORS WALKER

Clothes make the mayor, eh? Well, for sartorial elegance, "Dapper Jimmy" Walker of New York certainly was outshone when the Lord Mayor of Liverpool, England, came to town, as this picture shows. The formal morning suit worn by Jimmy (at right) just couldn't compete with the Lord Mayor's luxurious gold-embroidered, bejeweled robe and glittering medals. And what's a mere secretary, like Mayor Walker has, beside an attendant who carries a huge golden mace and wears a plum-colored velvet coat, a gold and scarlet waist-coat and a white-banded top hat?

CONVICTION IN HOTEL CASE TO BE APPEALED

Jerome Wilson, alias Anthony Lake, who was convicted by a jury in the justice court of A. W. Swayze at Orange last April on a charge of defrauding a hotel keeper, is planning to appeal his punishment of a fine of $50, to the superior court. It was learned today, when a statement on the case was filed with County Clerk J. M. Backs by the district attorney's office.

Wilson, who during the trial at Orange testified he was former real estate editor of the New York American, and later of the Los Angeles Daily News, and that he is an author and writer and was paid $5000 for a scenario for Colleen Moore, claimed he had paid the amount which the proprietor of the Hotel Rochester, at Orange, declared he did not pay.

The complaint was that Wilson, who registered as Lake, occupied a room for two days and nights and then unlawfully and surreptitiously removed his baggage without paying his bill. This offense is alleged to have been committed in April of 1930.

The appeal is to be taken on grounds of a verdict contrary to law and evidence and an error in a decision of the court on a question of law during the trial, according to the statement which has been filed.

BURGLAR HOLDS UP FAMILY AT ORANGE

Caught in the act of robbing the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Luman, of 425 West Palmyra street, Orange at 9:20 o'clock Saturday night, a youthful burglar, using a gun he had stolen in the house, held up Mr. and Mrs. Luman and Miss Marie Janelcke, robbing them of rings, a watch and $5 in cash, according to a report filed with the sheriff.

After the holdup, the thief calmly walked out the front door and disappeared in an orchard near the house. From the condition of the home, it is not believed that he had been in the house for any length of time before the family returned.

Entrance into the house was made with the aid of a pass key, used on the front door, it was reported.

Articles reported stolen included three rings, taken from the two women, a watch, taken from Mrs. Luman and $5 in cash.

LOCAL CHURCH HOST TO G. A. R. GROUP SUNDAY

In the Memorial day service at the First Christian church yesterday morning, in which the church was host to the members of the Santa Ana post of the Grand Army of the Republic and its auxiliaries, church pastor, preached on the subject "Living and Dying for an Ideal." He said in part:

"Right thoughts go before right action, so the germ of the ideal in the heart of man tells what he will be in the future. No man is better than his best thoughts and no nation can rise higher than her best ideals."

"We meet today in memory of those who have died to maintain the high ideals set forth in the Constitution. We have to die in order to live. The first and highest thing in life is to give one's self to God—to country—to ideals. We are enjoying the blessings our nation has to give today because others have died in the struggle to save their country's ideals."

"Thus when our beloved country was wrapped in the dark cloud of slavery, when we had forgotten certain clauses in our Declaration of Independence, at the call of your country, you men who are honoring us by your presence today, stepped out from your homes and answered. And you went with a host of others to ever keep alive the ideals of your country."

"Thus blood and tears have watered the roots of the violets of peace and caused them to burst forth with their fragrance of union and peace. We all love our nation today and those in blue and gray alike look as one to the flag that floats over us and are happy in the thought that we are one in purpose, one in hope, and one in the desire to keep alive our great and glorious ideals."

"Progress is made only through suffering—life comes only to those who die, because it is God's law. The Master has taught this great principle through his life and death. Christ's thoughts were not centered upon self, but on others. He came to help others. He died to help others."

"While it is essential to be loyal and give ourselves for our ideal, there is a right and wrong way of doing this. Paul said, 'If I bestow all my goods to feed the poor and if I give my body to be burned, but have not love, it profiteth me nothing.' Let us keep in mind that our nation's ideals and principles should be upheld because of the love we have for humanity."

"It was our ideals and love for humanity that created our flag. No human flag in all the world represents such loftiness of ideals as our own Stars and Stripes. Let us be proud of our country and her flag, let us be brave in our loyalty to the high ideals of our nation and be

S. A. CHOIR IN PROGRAM FOR ORANGE CHURCH

ORANGE, May 25.—A program of unusual interest was presented at the First Methodist church here last night by the choir of the First M. E. church of Santa Ana under the direction of Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh. Famous pictures were modeled, with interesting sketches preceding the representation of the pictures and an appropriate vocal or instrumental number for each picture.

This pageant of living pictures was the first time such an event had been presented in Orange. Lollita Perine, Laguna Beach, gave a sketch of the history of each picture preceding the rendition of the musical number. Eva Ramsey was accompanist throughout the program.

Edward Burns, cellist, opened the program playing "Romance," by Rencha. Following this the choir sang "Hark, Hark, the Lark." This was followed by the living picture of the "Song of the Lark," interpreted by Mary Mendenhall.

A vocal solo, "The Blind Ploughman," was sung by Holland Whittington. The picture to go with this song was "Blind Mydia," portrayed by Mary Bess Vampbell. Mrs. June Burns next gave a vocal solo, "The Star," which was followed by a portrayal of the picture "Vesta Tucta," modeled by Ruth Bonis.

"Trauer" was played by Edward Burns on the cello, the picture, "Delphia Sybil," being portrayed by Frances Knudson.

Mrs. Jerry Hall next sang "Good-bye," the picture representing this song being "Evangeline," modeled by Mrs. Lars Kent. "Laughter of Love," sung by Mrs. Irma Rudder, was portrayed in picture by Mrs.

Virginia Holington, who took the part of "Spring." "Orientale," a number sung by the chorus, was modeled by Ramona Smith. Robert Brown sang "Reguena." The picture for this number was "Lachryme," portrayed by Georgia Lewis. Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh sang "Ave Maria," the picture being "Madonna," modeled by Jeanette Luke. "Pale Hands," sung by Jerry Hall, was represented in picture by Mrs. June Burns.

"Marsellesa," sung in French by Mrs. Slabaugh, was followed by the picture, "Joan of Arc," modeled by Florence Warner. The final number on the program, sung by Robert Brown, was "Mother of Mine," the portrait of "My Mother," being modeled by Mrs. C. W. Burns.

TEMPERS ACTUALLY HOT

HARTFORD, Conn.—Those persons with "hot" tempers actually create heat by their rising emotions. Dr. H. E. Himwich and J. F. Fulton, of Yale, contend. In experiments with rats and dogs they found that rage and fear burned up fuel in the form of fat in the animals, actually creating a "hot" temper.

JAMBOREE FUND WILL BE USED FOR INFIRMARY

Declaring that the annual Scout jamboree to be held in the Olive bowl Thursday promises to be one of the best ever held in the county and that the funds derived from the sale of tickets would be used this year to establish an infirmary for the protection of boys that go to camp RoKilla, Grever, Fultz, chief de Gare of the 46 and 5 volunteers of Orange county, has issued the following statement in regard to the jamboree:

"The Boy Scout Jamboree, sponsored by the 46 and 5, Orange county volunteers, is an annual affair held to raise money for the Scouts' own benefit. The money derived from the sale of tickets is turned over to supplement the Scout budget, which is not large enough to take care of all the things that are necessary for scout welfare. The 46 and 5 is always ready to lend a hand for child welfare and community betterment.

"Our boys of today will be the men of the future. We are asking a people of Orange county who wish to have their boys grow into adulthood with the proper training and under good leadership to support these men who devote their lives to this cause.

"The tickets for the Jamboree are in the hands of the Boy Scouts for disposal and we are asking each citizen buy at least one ticket whether or not he is able to attend the affair. We hope that every one who can will be present at the Jamboree. It is the joy of every scout to show the people of the community what he has learned in scouting methods and activities.

"Every organization in the county has been asked to help. In the past we have had the best co-operation and hope that the same condition will prevail this year."

RETURN FROM TRIP TO JACKSONVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Salter, 113 East Tenth street, believe that they have made a record for old people in an automobile trip from Jacksonville, Fla., to Santa Ana. The couple made the trip in 94 days, leaving Jacksonville at noon a week ago last Tuesday and arriving in Santa Ana Thursday afternoon. Mr. Salter is 75 years old and his wife, Tina Salter, is 64. They have lived in Santa Ana since 1929, and Salter is able to recall when Santa Ana was not even a stopping place on the highway.

Salter spoke enthusiastically of special parking places in Jacksonville that are reserved for tourists, and declared that he would like to see a similar system incorporated in Santa Ana, as it makes a good impression on visitors to the city. Any car that parks in the reserved space that is not a tourist car is promptly given a tag, Salter declared.

S. A. Minister To Address Graduates Of Anaheim School

ANAHEIM, May 25.—Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church in Santa Ana, will be the featured speaker at the exercises of the graduating class of the Freemont school in the Greek open air theater June 11, it was announced today by Wilbert Bonney, principal of the school.

A musical program will be presented, during which time the class song, which was written by Willard Bath and Katherine McCullah, will be sung.

Building Of New Market Under Way

Construction of the new market building which is being built by A. W. Gerard for the Alpha Beta Markets at the intersection of South Main and Cuylen streets, started today, it was announced by C. B. Hurd, member of the firm of Hurd and Pickering, which was awarded the building contract.

Buildings have been moved off the property, consisting of three lots on the southwest corner of the intersection, and clearing for the concrete and brick structure started today. The new market will be of Spanish type architecture and will be completed about August 15, Hurd said. The contract figure was in the vicinity of $20,000, it was learned.

One female hearing will yield as many as 70,000 eggs.

JUST "BAILING OUT"

There plenty of action in this unusual picture, which shows an ambitious rider being hurled to the ground by a bucking bronco during an exhibition rodeo held at Host Gibson's ranch near Saugus, Calif. Note that at the moment the camera clicked both horse and rider were just off the ground.

ALLEGED DOPE PEDDLER HERE TO FACE COURT

George Miller, whose true name is Percy Howe, according to Floyd Howard, chief of police, arrested here Saturday afternoon after police had chased him for several blocks, firing at him, is one of the most badly wanted dope peddlers in the state of California, Howard reported.

Federal officers in Santa Ana today to take charge of "Miller's" case, reported that he had been arrested 11 times prior to the present arrest, that he is a parole violator and that he is wanted in a half dozen cities in the state, including Taft and Santa Barbara.

They intimated that they would file charges of 48 prescription forgeries against the man in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning. In the meantime Miller is being held in the county jail.

"Miller is a peddler of the worst type," Howard said. "It is one of the most fortunate catches that we have been able to make, because the man had started operations in Santa Ana. He already had forged a number of prescriptions here, using the blanks of a Dr. Martin Lang, of Long Beach, who now is under arrest on a charge of violation of the state narcotic laws," Howard said.

EMERGENCY CALL WARNING ISSUED

Members of the Legion auxiliary were warned today to be ready to answer an emergency call to be given between 7 and 8 p. m. Thursday, it was announced by Mrs. Dean Collier, president of the organization. The members are asked to assemble at the Legion hall as soon as possible after the sounding of the call.

According to Mrs. Collier, this is the first time the auxiliary has been asked to participate in this emergency call and she expects every member to answer the call. The emergency call is to be given as a drill for members of the American Legion and the auxiliary so that if an emergency ever arises they will be prepared to meet it.

Court Notes

Charging cruel and inhuman treatment and asserting that her husband made no effort to obtain employment after their marriage but lived on what she contributed to their support, a divorce action has been filed by Nona McCarter against Thomas H. McCarter. They were married in Bakerfield last September and separated five months later.

Angelina Belarades is plaintiff in a divorce action which has been filed in superior court against Julio J. Balardos, charging cruel and inhuman treatment. The plaintiff asserts her husband was irritable and nagged and constantly gambled, wasting money needed for support of the family. They were married in 1924.

G. H. Salisbury today filed a complaint against Mrs. A. G. Walters asking judgment of $400 for money loaned and not repaid.

Boy Discovers Leap Frog 'Ripping' Game

"An' I tore my Sunday pants."

A strain from an old song, too old for Earl Smith, 13, Los Angeles boy, to have ever heard perhaps, but it applies to him just the same.

Earl, visiting in Anaheim yesterday, was playing leap frog in a vacant lot, using stumps to hop over. His trousers caught on one of the stumps and he was thrown to the ground so hard that it broke his arm. He is in the county hospital.

No report as to what happened to the pants was received at the hospital.

Police News

Goldie McDonald, Santa Ana, reported to the city police last night that his automobile was stolen from a place where he had parked it near Sixth and Birch streets, earlier in the evening.

Four men, all of Orange, were arrested over the week end on drunk charges. DeGray Tufts, 25, was arrested at the Orange county park by Deputy Sheriff Moore, and Santa Ana police arrested three in Santa Ana. They were N. J. Paulson, Charles F. Bauman and Jack Walinco.

DE MILLE PLANS FAR EAST JOURNEY

HOLLYWOOD, May 25.—(UP)—Cecil B. De Mille, motion picture producer, said today he hoped to include Japan and India in a trip he will start on June 4.

De Mille, always interested in the Buddhist philosophy, said he hoped to make a close study of Buddhism in some temple in Japan during his stay.

The India-Japan trip, according to De Mille, will depend upon conditions when he reaches Constantinople next fall. He plans to spend the summer months in Central Europe and tour through Russia in the fall.

LIFE OF CRIME

LONDON—George William Dixon, posing as a doctor, borrowed some money from Arthur Cooper to pay cab fare. Cooper watched him and saw that he didn't pay any cabbie, but boarded a tram for London. He notified police, who took Dixon into custody. They found that he had been sentenced to serve a total of 27 years in jail since 1896 on many different charges. The judge added another six months for fraud.

Stretching from Newfoundland to the Azores, a tapeline 1264 miles was reeled out recently from a cable steamer to obtain an accurate measure of the distance traveled between the two lands. The tapeline was a fine steel piano wire.

LOCAL RAGGERS AT SOUTHLAND REUNION

The annual Raggies reunion of Y. M. C. A. boys from all over Southern California occurred Saturday night at the San Pedro Y. M. C. A. building.

About 300 Raggies were present for the event, including the following from Santa Ana: R. H. McArthur, Bob Spurgeon, Jack McCarthy, Joe Rositter, De Estinne Finn, Harold Lutes, Donald Lentz, William Semmacher, Lloyd Gibbs, Clayton McKeith, John Hoy, Paul Livezey, Miles Norton and William Rasmussen.

The program involved a dinner, followed by music, stunts and speeches, all in keeping with the ideals and purposes of the Raggies. The Raggies compose the honor society of Y. M. C. A. campers, and the order, started several years ago in the interests of better camping, is proving a remarkable influence in the lives of the boys who win the honors, according to R. H. McArthur, one of the leaders, who has for himself the honor of being one of a small number who have been awarded the "white rag," the highest degree attainable, which is given only for distinguished merit.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

'PENTECOST' IS SERMON TOPIC OF REV. MINCK

ORANGE, May 25.—"Making Pentecost Personal" was the subject of the Sunday morning sermon by the Rev. Franklin H. Minck at the Christian church. "The Heavenly Shepherd" was the anthem by the choir. The women's quartet, Mesdames Leon Des Jarres, W. M. Whitney, L. F. Finley, C. A. McGill, presented a number. The morning prayer was offered by Ronald Mummert, of Australia, a student of the divinity school at California Christian college.

The Rev. Mr. Minck said in part: "What shall we do? was the cry on the day of pentecost 1900 years ago. Special recognition of the day has been stressed for the three years. The Spirit of Christ can come into the hearts of those who offer their hearts to God. D. Stanley Jones says his experience in India simplified his faith in God. People are in need of Christ. At the foot of Christ is the important thought, the simple message of Christ. The Spirit of Christ dominates our attitude if we have a personal pentecost. Christ is our guide, our comrade and our Savior. Pilate tried to free Jesus until the evening fear of the Roman soldiers held him in servitude. He lacked the internal yearning. He has not the spirit of pentecost.

"Evil in whatever form brings only agony, remorse and destruction. We have control over our lives. We can accept the love of God. We can be loyal and we can obey the word of God. Love, loyalty and obedience can dominate our lives when we are filled with the Spirit of Christ.

The Christians of the day of pentecost obeyed. Today the message is the same, the Spirit of Christ will come to us as on that first pentecost if we obey and prepare our hearts by prayer.

"These Women" was the subject of the evening sermon by the pastor. The women of the Loyal Women's class set in a body in the center aisle of the church to receive recognition on the 20th anniversary of their organization. The Rev. C. C. Bentley of Long Beach, pastor of the church at the organization of the class, gave a few words of welcome.

The chorus brought the evening music, "Risen For Me" by Fillmore, and "Ivory Palaces." Mrs. L. F. Finley and daughter sang "Gates of Gold" and Miss Josephine Durgan sang.

ASKS MEMBERS TO CONTINUE CHURCH WORK

VILLA PARK, May 25.—As the Rev. E. C. Rose, a former pastor at Villa Park, was present, Dr. W. M. Tipton invited him to address his congregation yesterday. The Rev. Mr. Rose spoke in part:

"There are so many things I would like to say today, it is hard to know where to begin. I do not know how many of these people here are members of this church, but all of you ought to have sweet communion with the Lord. It is a great thing to be a Christian. I have been a shut-in for nearly eight months this year. I was almost in despair but the Lord has been here to permit me to be able to come here this morning.

"I am hardly acquainted with my own voice, so I am not going to be so rash as to undertake to preach a sermon. And it really is not so much sermons as Jesus Christ in the heart. It will be 61 years the 28th of this next June since I was licensed to preach. I was 17 years of age and I did not know much about preaching. I wasn't much of a man as far as age was concerned. The only thing that helped me to go on with my work was the help of God. I do not think I am mistaken in this, what success has been in my labors has been from the Lord.

"If you let this church go under the hammer, you will feel sad. You may join some church in Orange or Santa Ana, but they do not need you there. This church ought not to die. I am inclined to think God wanted me to come here this morning. Do not sell this church, reconsecrate yourselves, give yourselves to prayer and sanctify yourselves. Make up your minds to make this the best, as far as religion is concerned. Live in the Spirit, and walk in the Spirit. By the grace of God, give yourselves to God. You are not altogether working for your own gratification, but for God. I believe God wanted me to give you this message. Live in the Spirit, and walk in the Spirit. Do not let the flesh overcome the Spirit.

"When I was here among you, I did not do much; I was kind of a misfit. It was the first time I ever candidated. I had been a pastor in Denver 38 years and the whole west was familiar to me. I was to have been a financial agent for a school in Idaho but my boy was taken sick, so I came on here and I was anxious to go to work, but I think they were a little doubtful, for I was hired for a year and by a clause in the contract they could get rid of me before the time by letting me know a certain length of time beforehand. And then a runaway horse used me up and I was nearly done for. But the Lord took me back. When I got back to Denver I could not turn my head without turning my whole body.

"After I went away again, a pastor with great energy and zeal spent $25,000 enlarging the church. So the Lord works and everything is joined together. Be happy in the Lord's work. I am 78 now and many people live to be a hundred. I am really interested in this church. Most of those who filled these pews have gone to heaven. The Williams family and Mr. and Mrs. Billingsley and their family, and Father Adams are most of them gone on before. But we who are left, let us still serve the Lord."

1500-Car Capacity
The packing house has a capacity of 1500 cars total shipments for the season and will continue to grow in membership and shipments until that figure has been reached, at which time the judgment of the stockholders will indicate whether further increase in shipments may be desired. The total number of acres represented in the association is in round figures 2400.

Investment in the packing house, machinery, equipment and land is $129,031.58. The pre-cooler installation shows an investment of an additional $75,000 or a total of $204,031.58.

Approximately 150 employees will be employed by the association in the packing house and pre-cooling operation. Added to this will be about 150 pickers, forward truck drivers, etc., working in the field operations. The pay roll for the year will total approximately $166,640.00.

Directors Listed
The directors of the association are: L. E. Lyon, president; R. C. Patton, vice president; William H. Maag, William Trapp Jr., T. O. Walker and Floyd E. Watson. Ben H. Cole is secretary-manager of the association. A. E. Hughes is superintendent of the packing house and pre-cooling plant operations. Frank Maag is superintendent of the field operations, directing the picking and hauling of fruit from the orchards to packing house. Mr. Hall is bookkeeper and Miss Shirley Shippe is stenographer.

LeRoy Lyon is also the association's representative on the board of directors, of the Orange County Fruit exchange. He was elected on February 2 this season to be its representative on the board of directors of the California Fruit Growers' exchange.

Cole has been with the association since May 1, 1915, beginning with the position of foreman and in 1916 was elected secretary-manager.

VILLA PARK
VILLA PARK, May 25.—The Ladies' Aid of Villa Park Community church held a special meeting at the hall last week, when a quilt was finished. Those present were Mrs. E. H. Adams, Mrs. Walter Adams, Mrs. E. E. Smith, Miss Minnie Terrell, Mrs. E. M. Squire, Mrs. Sarah March, Mrs. B. M. Lee, Mrs. Jessup, Mrs. A. E. Hughes and Mrs. W. M. Tipton.

Miss Lillian Morrow was bridesmaid at the wedding of her cousin, Miss Helen Pearl Huthoff, and Charles Frederick Funder, of Anaheim, which was held at the Evangelical church, in Santa Ana, Tuesday evening.

Having an average altitude above sea level of 2800 feet, Colorado is the highest state in the United States, with Wyoming a close second.

CITRUS PLANT OPENING HELD ON JUNE FIRST

OLIVE, May 25.—An invitation to the public to visit the new pre-cooling plant of the Olive Heights Citrus association on June 1 was made today by Ben H. Cole, manager.

The project cost $75,000, affording storage for 65 cars of fruit. New principles of refrigeration and air circulation never before used in a citrus pre-cooling plant in California are involved in the construction and operation of the plant which will make it possible to pre-cool fruit before loading into refrigerator cars to a temperature of 36 degrees Fahrenheit within 36 hours. The fruit is insulated by the box in which it is packed and the paper around the fruit, and also the skin of the orange is a natural insulator against cold temperatures.

This cooling is accomplished through the medium of 20 degree air which has previously passed through a chamber in which there are many nozzles spraying a solution of brine over ammonia coils. The air is conveyed in a volume of 75,000 cubic feet per minute through ducts extending the full length in the ceiling of the pre-cooler rooms. This then passes through the pack of fruit in the rooms and is returned to the brine spray chamber through ducts in the sides of the ceiling of the pre-cooler rooms. In passing back to the brine spray chamber, the air is not only again cooled to a temperature of 29 degrees but is thoroughly conditioned and purified.

Automatic Operation
The plant is thoroughly automatic in every particular—dampers in the rooms closing and opening by thermostatic and air pressure control depending upon the temperature desired. When cooled, the fruit is conveyed by belts for loading into cars. The cars are loaded previously by loading, placing solid blocks of ice each weighing not less than 300 pounds in the bunkers at each end of the car. A total of about seven tons of ice is used in the bunkers of each refrigerator car. The fruit being thoroughly cooled before loading is now ready for the eastern markets, and unless unusual delay of the car in transit should develop, the further icing of the car is required.

The association was organized in October of 1914 and started with shipments in May, 1915, of 40 cars of 462 boxes to the car for the season. The 1926 shipments were 490 cars. The present year will show 1000 cars or an increase of 104 percent over 1925. The organization now has a total of 200 members. The fruit is shipped through the California Fruit Growers' exchange with which the association is affiliated. The brands of the association are Troy (fancy), Atlas (extra choice), and Hector (choice).

1500-Car Capacity
The packing house has a capacity of 1500 cars total shipments for the season and will continue to grow in membership and shipments until that figure has been reached, at which time the judgment of the stockholders will indicate whether further increase in shipments may be desired. The total number of acres represented in the association is in round figures 2400.

Investment in the packing house, machinery, equipment and land is $129,031.58. The pre-cooler installation shows an investment of an additional $75,000 or a total of $204,031.58.

Approximately 150 employees will be employed by the association in the packing house and pre-cooling operation. Added to this will be about 150 pickers, forward truck drivers, etc., working in the field operations. The pay roll for the year will total approximately $166,640.00.

Directors Listed
The directors of the association are: L. E. Lyon, president; R. C. Patton, vice president; William H. Maag, William Trapp Jr., T. O. Walker and Floyd E. Watson. Ben H. Cole is secretary-manager of the association. A. E. Hughes is superintendent of the packing house and pre-cooling plant operations. Frank Maag is superintendent of the field operations, directing the picking and hauling of fruit from the orchards to packing house. Mr. Hall is bookkeeper and Miss Shirley Shippe is stenographer.

LeRoy Lyon is also the association's representative on the board of directors, of the Orange County Fruit exchange. He was elected on February 2 this season to be its representative on the board of directors of the California Fruit Growers' exchange.

Cole has been with the association since May 1, 1915, beginning with the position of foreman and in 1916 was elected secretary-manager.

STRESSES NEED FOR INCREASED FAITH IN GOD

Strressing the need for greater faith and trust in God, the Rev. C. C. Houston, pastor of the Southside Church of Christ, preached yesterday morning on the topic "Some Lessons in Feeding the 5000." His text was taken from John 6:12-14. He said in part:

"John the Baptist had been beheaded by Herod and the 12 apostles had returned from their trip under the first commission and with Jesus had crossed the sea of Galilee to the eastern shore. Here Jesus was met by the multitude. His great benevolence, and meeting the needs of many in healing, had aroused the popular expectation that He might lead them from under the power of Herod and establish the long looked for kingdom. Their misconception of a material reign instead of a spiritual one caused them to linger long and late to hear His words."

"Their natural needs for food had not caused them to go away from Him. The disciples mentioned their condition. Jesus said, 'Give ye to them.' He was testing them. He might here crystallize the stream of their faith. He might cause all to recognize the power of the life giving seed in harmony with His established law in nature. He might cause them to recognize His power of miracle also, and have written that we might see that such power has been used. There was no circumstance or condition to prevent Jesus meeting and supplying needs even if it could not be done then and there by natural law. It was miraculously done."

"In this emergency Christ is not lacking. He is as powerful here as in healing. From a few loaves and fishes He builds and multiplies at once bread and fish enough to satisfy the hunger of many men, women and children. While His power is unlimited He wanted them to utilize the resources they had at their command. We also should use what we have, trusting God for what is needed or lacking. This seems to be a time of distrust. We need greater faith. We need to put God's promises to a test, as it were, by launching out into the deep."

"There are so many ways to do good, to bring satisfaction, to arouse contentment, and fill our life with happiness and pleasure."

OFFICERS OF FARM BUREAU PLAN MEETING

Problems of importance to members of the Farm bureau in Orange county will be discussed at a Farm bureau officer's meeting to be held at the Ebell clubhouse Wednesday night. Members will assemble at 8:15 p. m. at the clubhouse and dinner will be served at 8:30 p. m. in the dining hall.

Several questions will be discussed, one being to decide whether or not to emphasize the food control report at June meetings of the various Farm centers. The question of devoting more time in the bureau activities to market problems rather than to tax, legislation, water and other projects also will be discussed.

President John W. Crill will speak on the Western States conference, discussing the part the center should take in staging the affair.

Special guests of the evening will be 13 boys who have been in 4-H club work in the county for the past five years or more. These boys will attend a statewide senior 4-H camp at Whitaker forest in the near future. The boys to be honored are Phillip Cassel, Costa Mesa; Roy Luther, Katella; Gilbert May, Yorba Linda; Roy Martin, Yorba Linda; Harold Case, Capistrano; Bill Dunn, Costa Mesa; William Eisman, Costa Mesa; Leonard Scott, Yorba Linda; Clair Shackelford, Los Alamitos; James Summons, Costa Mesa; Boyd Whitney, Santa Ana, and Donald Schintger, of Garden Grove.

In the afternoon various committees will hold meetings in the Farm bureau office in the court house annex.

that will please the Lord that we should not enter the pleasures of sin. Let us meet our emergencies. "If we would save the crumbs of life, if we would eradicate from our lives much needless waste and extravagance and work for the Master, much more would be accomplished and we would be far richer in heaven's sight."

SECOND ANNUAL SOPHOMORE DAY TO BE STAGED

Marking the first big event of the 1931 graduating calendar at the Santa Ana Junior college, the sophomores will present their second annual Sophomore day tomorrow and usher in a full program of culminating events in their joyous careers.

The graduates will hold a breakfast tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. in the sheltered student center on the north end of the campus. If it rains, the affair will be held in the college cafeteria but it is hoped that it can be held out of doors. Warren Schultz, president of the sophomores class, will preside over the short program.

The other event of the day will be assembly at 11 a. m., in compliance with the graduation class. A play will be presented by the junior college drama department under the direction of Ernest Crozier Phillips, and varied musical entertainment will be featured. Schultz also will be in charge of this program.

Although not a scheduled part of Sophomore day, the nominations for Associated Student officers will be made during the assembly. John "Sky" Dunlap, retiring student president, will have charge of this part of the program. Petitions have been taken out for George Griffith, president; Robert Brown and Wilton Hilliard, vice-presidents; Louise Proctor, Mary Mateer and Eugenia Gira, secretary, and Dante Stracuser and Elmer Kogler, treasurer. MAYORS TO DISCUSS AQUEDUCT PROJECT

Consideration of plans for advancing construction of the aqueduct to bring water into Southern California from the Colorado river is to be the principal item of discussion at a dinner conference of mayors of the 14 municipalities now members of the Metropolitan Water district, which is to be held at the Hotel Alexandria June 4.

A call for the meeting has been issued by W. P. Whitsett, chairman of the board of directors of the district. Orange county cities which are members of the district are Santa Ana, Fullerton and Anaheim.

"Southern California cities in the Metropolitan Water district keenly appreciate their need for Colorado river water," the chairman of the board said, "but the total quantity these cities obtain from the river will be only a small fraction of the total quantity of water saved for beneficial use by the great dam."

Of London's foreign population, 34 per cent are Russians, 10 per cent Italians, 8 per cent Germans and 7 per cent French. There are about 40,000 Russians.

REPORT SLUMP IN ACTIVITIES OF DAN CUPID

A comparison of records in the office of County Clerk Joe Backs shows that the economic depression last year evidently had an adverse effect on activities of Dan Cupid, for there were fewer marriages and more divorces than the previous year.

The condition was not confined to Orange county alone. It is learned, as state records prepared by the division of vital statistics show that the entire state was effected in the same manner, despite a 220,000 increase in population during 1930. There was a decrease of 1.3 per cent in the number of marriages performed in the state last year, the number dropping to 50,154 from the figure of 51,886 which was reported in 1929.

The same percentage applied to divorces in the entire state, figures show, but on the other side of the fence—an increase. During 1930 there were 15,603 divorces recorded in the state courts and for the previous year the number was 504 smaller, or 15,099.

In Orange county during 1929 there were 3730 marriages. This figure dropped to 3468 last year. In the respective years the number of licenses issued were 3869 and 3531. Divorces in Orange county, according to state records, increased from 231 in 1929 to 344 in 1930.

Alpine county, the smallest in the state had but one wedding during 1930 and had no divorces. Sierra county also reported no divorces during the year.

Canada has 57 licensed airports, 34 licensed airplane ports, and 40 unlicensed landing places for aircraft.

The census of 1930 gave Alaska a population of 58,758, which is an increase of 6.8 per cent over the figure of 1920.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, May 25.—Mrs. Fred Brush entertained with a delightful anniversary party at the family home on the afternoon of the birthday of her young daughter, Jean, 7. Pink and green were artistically used in decorating, the frilled paper plates and candy cups corresponding with the color scheme. Ice cream, birthday cake and candy were served when a number of games had been enjoyed by the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schuth entertained as overnight guests in their home, Mrs. Schuth's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, of San Bernardino.

Mrs. Ralph Huff entertained in her local home at a delightful tea for the women of the First Christian church of Huntington Beach, the receipts for the tea going toward sending some boys and girls to the Bible school at the Pacific Palisades this summer.

Mrs. Huff was assisted by her mother, Mrs. H. A. Gallienne, who poured tea, and a pleasing program was presented. Mrs. Perry Terry gave two readings, Mrs. Frank Catching sang and Mrs. L. E. Worthy presented several instrumental numbers.

Mrs. Huff's guests included Mrs. J. Hurst, Mrs. J. S. Ball, Mrs. Harriette Dowdy, Mrs. Della Fox, Mrs. L. E. Worthy, Mrs. Otis Scott, Mrs. L. MacNougle, Mrs. Stella R. White, Mrs. Bertha Warren, Mrs. J. R. Carter, Mrs. R. F. Patrick, Mrs. Frank Catching, Mrs. Elfin Koppl, Mrs. J. W. James, Mrs. Conrad Worthy, Mrs. Henrietta Robinson, Mrs. J. H. Pryor, Mrs. Lee Wentzel, Mrs. Dameron, Mrs. H. A. Gallienne, Mrs. Lemert, Mrs. Perry Terry, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Gallienne, of Pasadena.

Harvey Moulton is a patient at the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where he was taken for an appendicitis operation Friday night. Mr. Moulton is reported as doing nicely.

Victoria McIntosh, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McIntosh, who has been at Everett, Wash., since soon after the commencement of the school term, will be home in four more weeks. Victoria has been attending school in Everett while pursuing her musical studies.

Mrs. Ellen Gothard and daughter, Mrs. Ethel Sebastian, spent Sunday at Colton with members of their family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Powell. Returning, they called in Tustin at the Johnson home, where Mrs. Gothard has spent some weeks caring for Miss Bertha Johnson. The invalid's death occurred but a few minutes after Mrs. Gothard's arrival. Miss Johnson, who resided the greater part of her life in this and adjoining communities, is survived by four brothers and her father, one brother having died two years ago. She has many relatives in this community and many friends who are saddened by her passing. There was a large attendance of local people at the funeral, which was held Tuesday afternoon from the Smith and Tuttle chapel in Santa Ana, with Dr. George A. Warner officiating. Mrs. Conner Stuckton was a week and guest with relatives in Santa Ana.

Don't leave everybody—everywhere—to drive this great Eight, priced from $2255 to $3055, f. o. b. Flint, Mich. More than 50 out of every 100 buyers of Eight in its field are choosing Buick—and choosing Buick because the balance. The reason is outstanding performance.

Co-operative Effort Toward Restoring Prosperity

Under the new Building and Loan Association Law of California, the "Guarantee Stockholders" assume double liability, just like stockholders of a National Bank.

It is, therefore, pertinent to point out that, in purchasing the stock of the Southwest Building and Loan Association of Santa Ana, the purchasers assumed a liability to investors in the association securities of double the amount of the association's "guarantee capital."

It is also pertinent and permissible to state the fact—and we believe the statement will be confirmed by any banker in Santa Ana—that the combined net worth of the guarantee stockholders of the Southwest Building and Loan Association is much more than four times the total liabilities of the association. And not only their financial resources but also their character and ability are guarantees of good management and safety. For the information and assurance of investors and depositors, we submit again the names of our guarantee stockholders, and solicit investments and deposits to be used in making exceptionally good real estate loans for which we have applications.

Our stockholders have put themselves and their money into the Southwest Building and Loan Association more for the purpose of serving the community than in the hope of any direct or immediate profit on their investment, and they solicit the co-operation of men and women of means and public spirit to the end that work may be provided for building tradesmen and building material dealers, who in turn will provide business for merchants and professional men.

Let us join hands in speeding up the wheels that are moving slowly and in starting those that have stopped.

LOOKS AND SLIDES

William Brucher

PROTEGE'S FAREWELL

Old Jim Jeffries' protege appeared for a brief spell in Madison Square Garden the other night, took a swishing right to the chin and went away from there. The protege is (or had we better say was?) Al Morro, and it took just a round and a half for Steve Hannas, former Penn State athlete, to knock Morro for a loop. Proteges never were much good, anyway.

CLEVER VS. TOUGH

The Battalino-La Barba championship shindig revives the question of cleverness vs. toughness. Battalino is tough; La Barba is clever. Usually the clever guy can beat the tough 'un—but not always. La Barba happens to be not only clever, however, but tough himself.

AN OLD SCHOOL PRANK

Flint Rhem and Ralph Hensley have something in common that is becoming rare in the big leagues these days. You remember how Rhem was kidnapped last year for several days while the Cardinals were coming down the home stretch with a pennant in sight. The other day, Manager Jewel Ems of the Pirates suspended catcher Ralph Hensley, who was away from the team for a week and came back with the explanation that he had been ill with influenza. Oddly, Hensley, in his fight with the flu, acquired a beautiful black eye. Kid influenza should be awarded a technical knockout.

SURPRISE?

The intercollegiate last of the month at Franklin Field are a foregone conclusion as far as team effort counts. The lads from the coast will walk in, do their turn and walk right out again with a championship.

But there may be individual surprises. Joe McCluskey of Fordham, Russ Chapman of Bates and Carl Coan of Penn will be in there with twinkling legs and well-looked-at faces. All placing in the Derby—you never can tell. Hurdle and Captain "Podge" Smith of Stanford, and Vic Williams, Southern California quarter miler, have been reported out of condition. A few of the eastern boys may get into some of the Pacific stars' way, but not enough to count when those totals are computed.

AFTER WYKOFF

Canada refuses to quit on Percy Williams, and you can't blame them for that. Vancouver has invited Frank Wykoff, California's "fastest human," to run 100 yards August 22 against the Olympic champion. Los Angeles replies that Wykoff will be out of training then, but that if Mr. Williams really would like to race, why shouldn't he come to the Southern California sectional meet June 20? If you could discount Williams' gameness, he looks to be priced at second choice in a race with Wykoff. But Williams' gameness is something you can't discount. He wins races.

RAIN, REIN, GO AWAY!

Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson, master mind of those Brooklyn Balmness Boys, looked up from his seat on the bench the other day where he had been reading his mail. What was the matter with the Robins? "The rain," replied Uncle Robbie. "The rain and the reporters. The rain gives the writers too much free rein."

But, did he think Brooklyn yet would reign? "We'll rain some base hits in a few of these ball parks yet," was Uncle's reply. "Say, where do you fellows buy that stuff that makes you write such charming pieces for the papers? Some reporter had a story the other day about President York reading the riot act to the team. That's threatening to suspend 'em. It wasn't so."

"And some bright fellow put out a story about me complaining about the new ball. Just silly. Those rainy day stories may be good reading, but they don't help us any."

"We're gettin' started now, though. Hey there, Babe, how many hits today?"

GABBY'S PITCHERS

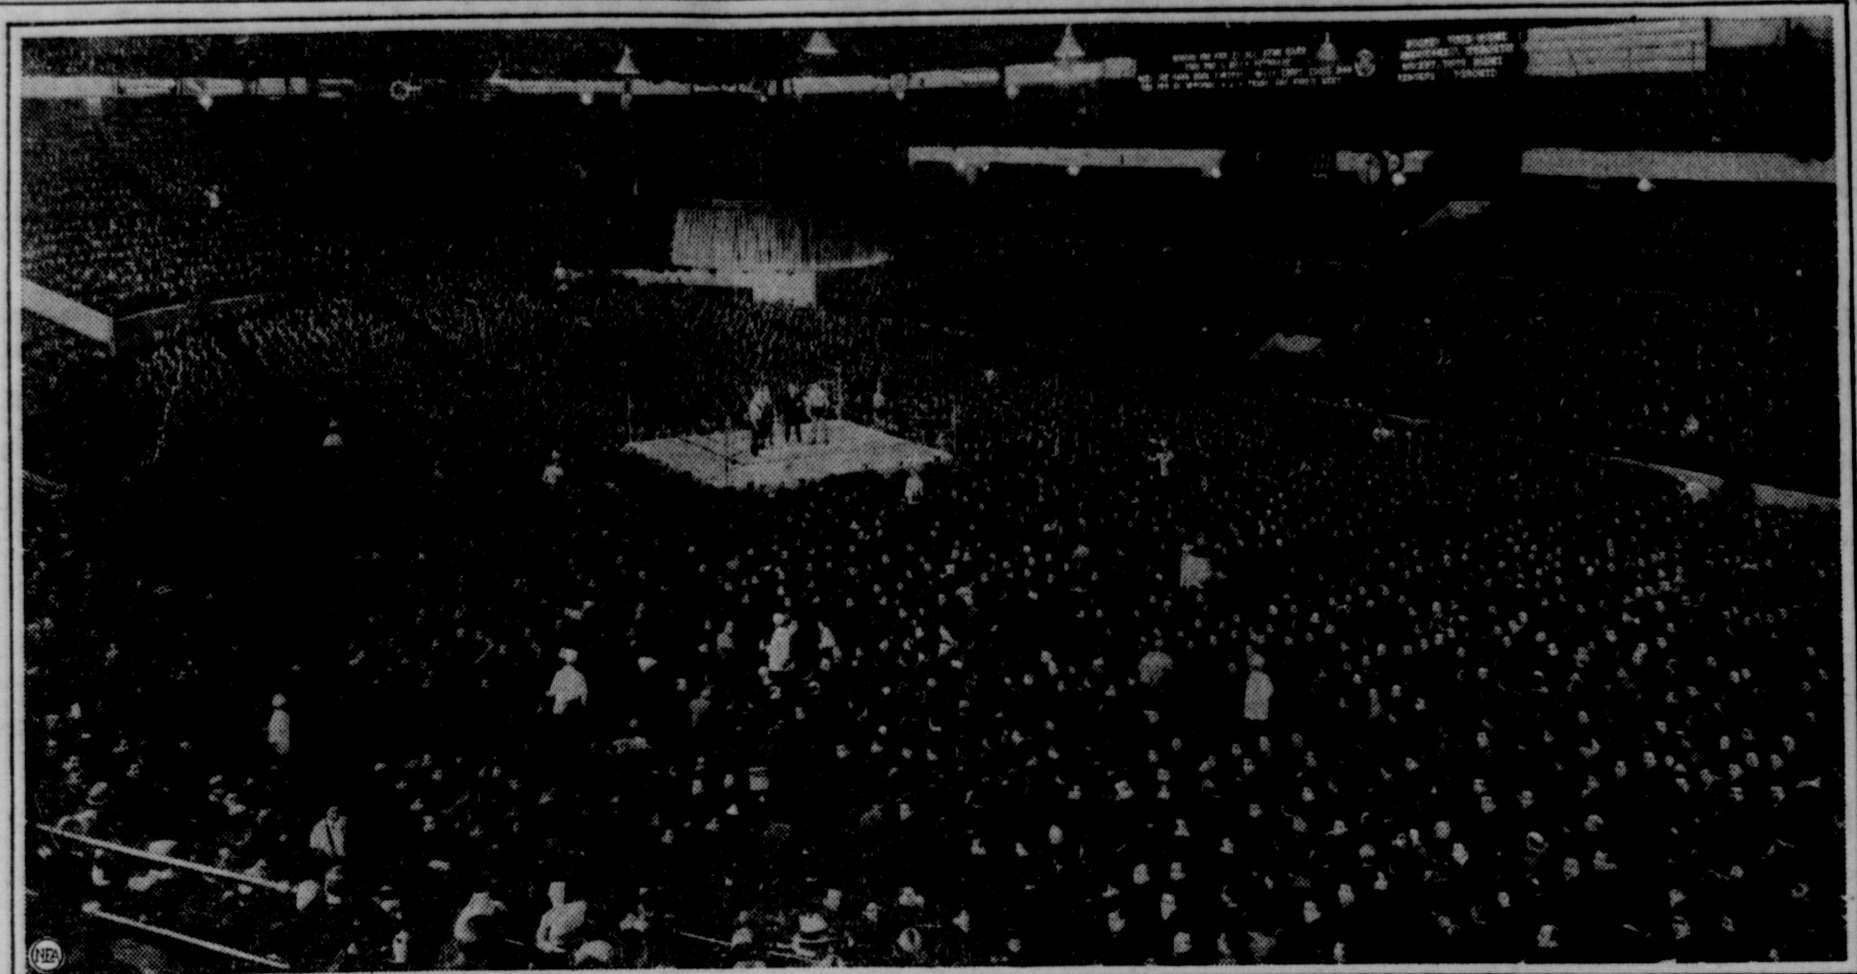

Gabby Street gave us the cue on his ball team when he sent Dixie Dean to Houston. Street thinks he has a pitching staff without peer in the National League. Why not? Watch the way the pitchers rotate—Rhem, Grimes, Haines, Johnson and Hallahan, with Lindsay and Derringer, one down, tied for first place in Class B match play. A. A. Beard and Dr. W. E. Watson were third, two down.

A. B. Roussele defeated Joe Warner, one up, in the final round of the Defeated 64 flight of the President's Cup tournament.

JACQUES NEAR WORLD'S JUMP RECORD Stars To Play Three Big Games This Week

EAGER FANS PAY THOUSANDS TO SEE GRUNT AND GRIMACE MEN IN NEW YORK

Madison Square Garden, below, New York's mammoth sports auditorium, collected 23,000 spectators and turned away 10,000 more when Jim Londos defended his wrestling "championship" from Jim McMillen, former Illinois football star. The attendance was an all-time record for the Garden, the house that Rickard built. The gate was approximately $67,000. Some sort of world record was established by Londos recently when he was the main attraction at 10 shows in 10 different cities in 12 nights. The cities were Atlanta, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis and Memphis. And in each of these cities the show was a sellout the boxoffice being closed before the show started.

GARDEN GROVE TEAM INVADERS BOWL TUESDAY

Garden Grove, Riverside and Anaheim, in that order, appear on Santa Ana's night baseball schedule this week. In many respects these games represent the Stars' most ambitious and concentrated program of the whole season, because all three opponents are of major ranking.

Garden Grove comes here tomorrow. Riverside plays in the Bowl Wednesday.

The Santa Ana-Anaheim melee, second of four engagements between the deadly rivals this summer, is at Anaheim Friday.

Three full games ahead of Anaheim, four in front of everybody else, Santa Ana perhaps is justified in its confidence that the first half of the National Night league season is all the same as over, and that THE race is really for second place between Anaheim, Whittier, Olive and one or two others, including Garden Grove which next challenges the Stars' unbroken string of victories.

Nevertheless, Manager George Lackaye is desperately anxious to keep the defending champions on their toes and in winning ways, so far as he is concerned there will be no letdown. He hates to think of failure now.

Lackaye has not announced his selection of pitchers for the week but it is possible Joe Cornelius will start both league games and Joe Ochoa will work the Riverside exhibition tussle.

Garden Grove has Lackaye a bit worried. The Peppers really gave Santa Ana its biggest scare of the entire season when the clubs collided last month. Neither Ochoa nor Earl Merrill proved effective against Walt Wentz's scrappy outfit and Cornelius, who was supposed to be resting up for Anaheim, had to come to the rescue of a game barely won, 10-8.

Meard Youel, a Santa Ana trader to the Peppers just before the season began, will work for the invaders. He is a fast ball gunner who has hurled some fine games for his new teammates.

Riverside's appearance here may outdraw both Garden Grove and Anaheim conflict. The Rubes have an efficient, colorful combination as their 1-0, 11-inning victory over Colton last Friday indicates. It was this win which gave Riverside first place in the inland circuit. There is a chance that Santa Ana and Riverside will be the teams paired in the Southern California playoff series in September, and anyway their meeting should offer a means of comparison between the class of baseball played by the unbeaten pacemakers of rival leagues.

VAN DIEN, HARVEY WIN IN MEDAL PLAY

H. B. Van Dien won the Class A medal play sweepstakes at the Santa Ana Street club yesterday, carding 83-14-69. "Bud" Hoyle was second with 84-14-70. B. V. Curry, 79-6-78, and R. O. Winkler, 87-14-73, tied for third. Milburn Harvey's 86-20-66 was best in Class B. W. C. Pixley, 87-19-69 was second and R. A. Emison, 92-22-70, third.

B. V. Curry and Homer Robinson, both three down, tied for Class A match play honors Saturday. M. E. Johnson, one down, was third. R. W. Cole and W. H. Kistinger, one down, tied for first place in Class B match play. A. A. Beard and Dr. W. E. Watson were third, two down.

A. B. Roussele defeated Joe Warner, one up, in the final round of the Defeated 64 flight of the President's Cup tournament.

Gregg has perfect 25 at skeet shoot. Cal Gregg had another unbroken string of 25 hits recorded at the Santa Ana Skeet club today. His perfect 25 breaks in 25 shots gave him a three-point edge in Sunday's shoot. E. E. Jackson, Leland Smith and Lloyd Smith had 22 breaks. Carl Kumpe hit 21. Other scores: Ed Backs and Herb Heanes, 19; Malcolm Gregg and Dorsey Clayton, 17, and Howard Krause, 10.

RAJAH BENCHES 'HACK' WILSON. $35,000 STAR

CHICAGO, May 25.—(UP)—"Hack" Wilson, major league home run leader last season and one of the highest paid players in the National league, has been removed from Chicago Cubs lineup by Manager Roger Hornsby.

Batting only 266 as compared to 356 a year ago, Wilson's slump has been one of the principal reasons for the recent decline of the Cubs. During the recent Eastern invasion Hornsby considered taking Wilson out of the lineup, but it was not until yesterday against Pittsburgh that he actually benched the Cubs' outfielder.

Hornsby would not say how long he planned to keep Wilson on the bench, but it may be for several days. Johnny Moore, Los Angeles rookie who is batting .230, has been shifted to Wilson's former place in center field with Riggs Stephenson playing left field, where Wilson has played a few games recently.

The Cubs have dropped eight of their last ten games, and today were in fifth place with a percentage of .481, five and a half games out of the top.

The benching of Wilson, whose salary is said to be $35,000 a season, did not bring the wrath of the rabid Cubs fans down on Hornsby as severely as many would have imagined. Hornsby was roundly cheered every time he appeared at bat yesterday, and he did everything he could to keep his team from losing with his seventh home run of the season and two singles in four times at bat.

LEAGUE RECORD FOR VICTORIES GOAL OF MACK

By Leo H. Petersen
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 25.—(UP)—Manager Joe McCarthy led his New York Yankees to Philadelphia today for a five-game series against the world champion Athletics, which will go a long way toward deciding the 1931 American league pennant race.

The Athletics, riding on the crest of a 15-game winning streak, have visions of a clean sweep over their most dangerous rivals and if this ambition is realized the Yankees will be virtually out of the fighting. Connie Mack's team now is running like a well oiled machine and has not lost a game since May 4.

With the pitching staff of Groe, Barnshaw, Walberg and Rommel in top form and the hitters setting a fast pace, the A's believe they have an excellent chance of equaling the American league record of 10 consecutive victories established by Chicago in 1906 and the major league record of 26 in a row made by the New York Giants in 1916.

New York's initial attempt to shatter the Philadelphia winning streak failed, when the Yankees dropped a 7 to 3 game to the Athletics at Yankee stadium Sunday.

Davis Martin New Amateur Champ

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—Davis Martin, 22, held the title of amateur golf champion of Southern California today as a result of his victory, 2 up, over "Wild Bill" Jeffries, in the 36-hole final match over the rain-soaked Los Angeles Country club course yesterday.

1930 VS. 1931 SAINT ELEVEN'S PLAY THURSDAY

The piece de resistance of Santa Ana high school's spring football season—1930 vs. 1931—will be Thursday afternoon at 3:15, Coach "Tex" Oliver announced today.

This game, pitting last year's Saint varsity with the team that probably will represent the school on the gridiron next fall, will definitely close the spring training campaign.

Al Rebohn, dashing backfield ace of Saint eleven's for three years, will captain the 1930 outfit. "Toys" Blower, veteran end and captain-elect of the Santa Anas, will lead the 1931 crew.

The game will be played at Poly field, with the public admitted free.

ORANGE NEAR TITLE IN BASEBALL RACE

Three games Friday will wind up the Orange league's first indoor baseball season.

Already having assured itself of at least a tie for the championship, Orange high school is expected to clinch the pennant by beating Brea-Olinda this week. Other games: Huntington Beach at Tustin; Garden Grove at Newport harbor.

WEST INDS HERE—THERE—LOCAL SPORTS

Called to task for not moving his umpires about the circuit, President George Peterkin of the National Night Baseball league coolly answers his critics by refusing to shift them at all.

"Shorty" Smith and Art Nunn, for example, have umpired seven of Santa Ana's ten games and are also assigned to work the next two.

Peterkin is frankly up stream when it comes to umpires for Santa Ana contests. Sid Allender and Joe Harless, one combination, are both Santa Anans and so are automatically disqualified.

Herb Salveson and "Bus" Callan are out because Salveson managed the Stars last year.

"Bronk" Millard had so much trouble with the champions that Peterkin hesitates to give them another load of him for a while. That leaves only two teams available, Smith and Nunn, Dillon and Crandall.

This arrangement should suit the Stars, however. They are reasonably certain of good umpiring. Despite his world's worst plate decision in the Whittier contest, Smith is one of the league's best umpires and Nunn, although pretty terrible at times last summer, has improved to a point where he's new to the out-standing base arbiter in the circuit.

Paul Jacques, just 6 feet tall, jumps a height of 6 feet, 4-13 inches. Try that on your credulity. The Saint track captain came through like a thoroughbred this year. He was defeated only twice all season—at the Chaffey Invitational when he was suffering from a knee injury and in the Southern California meet when he cleared 6 feet, 1 inch but had to be satisfied with second place.

Because he did not compete in the dual meet with Long Beach on account of his knee trouble, a recurrence of football injury, a long Beach critic ridiculously questioned his gameness.

He silenced them all at the All-Southern; then made 'em swallow their words at Visalia where he missed a world's high school record by only three-eighths of an inch. At that the bar was set at 6 feet, 5 inches and for a moment it appeared that Jacques was a world's champion but actual measurement disclosed a sag of seven-eighths of an inch.

The Santa Anan's leap of 6:4 1-3 is virtually certain of netting him All-American interscholastic rating, no other prep athlete having approached this record this season.

And Jacques' jump indicates that he will be first class timber for America's Olympic Games team in 1932.

INJUNCTION TO STOP SHARKEY. PRIMO ISSUED

NEW YORK, May 25.—(UP)—A temporary injunction which would prohibit the scheduled Primo Carnera-Jack Sharkey prize fight June 10 at Brooklyn was issued today by Federal Judge John C. Knox on application of the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois.

The Garden corporation asserted it had a previous contract binding Carnera to a fight with the winner of the Max Schmeling-William Stribling bout to be held at Cleveland, July 3.

The complaint held that Carnera signed for the Brooklyn bout after he had signed for his services to the Garden corporation until Dec. 31, 1931.

In giving his opinion, Judge Knox made provision for the financial protection of Carnera. The justice ruled that Carnera was entitled to some insurance against default of the Garden corporation, and so provided that if the bout with the Stribling-Schmeling winner should not go through, he would be awarded $60,000 by the court.

The $60,000 would be derived from a bond of $25,000 to be posted by the Garden corporation to secure its performance of the contract and an additional $35,000 tract and an additional $35,000 which would be awarded Carnera by way of damages suffered as a result of the injunction.

ARGENTINA IS NEXT FOR U. S. NET TEAM

MONTREAL, May 25.—Having shattered Canada's hope of international tennis success, the United States Davis Cup team was en route today for Washington, D. C., to meet Argentina in the American zone finals, May 28, 29 and 30.

The United States players qualified for the series by defeating Canada, four matches to one, in the North American finals. The Argentina-United States winner will advance to the inter-zone finals to determine an opponent for France in the challenging round.

Lawless Meets Jones

CHICAGO, May 25.—"Bucky" Lawless, Syracuse welterweight, will meet "Gorilla" Jones, Akron, O., Negro, in a 10-round bout on the Chicago stadium's final indoor boxing program of the season tonight. Jones holds a knockout over Lawless, who recently defeated Welterweight Champion Jack Thompson in a non-title bout here.

SAINT CAPTAIN SCALES 6:4 AT STATE CLASSIC

A slender wisp of a boy, Paul Jacques by name, was numbered today with Santa Ana high school's immortals.

Already ranked as the best high jumper in the institution's history, Jacques became one of its finest competitive athletes when he won his event in the California State Intercollegiate meet at Visalia Saturday.

Jacques jumped 6 feet, 4 1/4 inches. This was two inches higher than his own all-time Santa Ana record, high school or junior college. It was exactly one inch better than the Southern California prep mark, made in 1928 by Bob Van Osdal of Compton high school.

It was just one-eighth of an inch lower than Walter Marty's California interscholastic record, established at the state meet in 1929.

Furthermore, Jacques' great jump was only three-eighths of an inch under the existing world's high school record of 6 feet, 4 1/4 inches, created in 1930 by Willis Ward of Northwestern, Mich.

Jacques was the only Santa Anan to place in the State championships which went to Los Angeles Poly, winner also of the Southern California title, with 19 1/2 points. Sacramento was second with 13, Huntington Park third with 11, Manual Arts and Fairfax fourth with 8.

Jim Newman, of Tustin, only other Orange county representative, took third place in the 120-yard high hurdles. He was unplaced in the low sticks.

Jacques' jumping was the best of his remarkable career. His previous best mark was 6 feet, 1 1/16 inches, made in the Coast Preparatory league championships. Jacques first broke the school record of 6 feet in his junior season last year, the old figure being credited to the late E. E. Heald (Huntington Park) 1914.

Jacques comes by his jumping skill honestly enough. He is third and ablest of three high-jumping brothers, Bob, Art and Paul, aptly enough called the "Jumple" Jacques. Bob and Art were quite consistent at 6 feet but neither scaled the heights reached by the good-looking Paul.

The younger Jacques, captain of the Saint track squad this year, is a graduating senior. It is understood he will follow in the footsteps of his brothers and continue his education at Santa Ana junior college.

HONOR SOCIETY CONCLAVE HERE ENDS SATURDAY

Members of the Honor society and Phi Theta Kappa of the junior college were being congratulated today on successfully holding the first annual meeting of the California Junior College Honor Society association, held in Santa Ana all day Saturday.

Over 100 delegates gathered for the convocation and discussed problems of organization and activities. Hending the program were two addresses at the morning session, one by Dr. Arthur Coons, economist and instructor at Occidental college, and Mrs. John Tessman, instructor of astronomy at the junior college. Dr. Coons spoke on "The Wealth of the Learned Mind" and Mrs. Tessman traced the history and purpose of two college honorary fraternities, Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi.

Bill Reinhardt, president of the Santa Ana chapter of the Honor society, presided over the sessions. John "Sky" Dunlap, president of the Associated Students, opened the morning program with an address of welcome and McKee Flisk, dean, introduced Dr. Coons. Musical entertainment was offered by Lloyd Staples, of Pasadena, who sang three solos, being accompanied by Miss Vivian Berg.

Luncheon was served at noon in the college cafeteria with the Moav women's service club in charge. The afternoon sessions were round table discussion, with the faculty advisors and students meeting separately. Each college gave a report of the activities of its honor groups and a discussion was also held on the formation and purpose of Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college honorary fraternity and a subsidiary of Phi Beta Kappa.

The concluding event was an informal tea served in the Y hut by members of the Sisterhood of Spinners, with Miss Margery Adams in charge. Members of the Las Meninas club of women and Los Gatos of men acted as hospitality committees and were attractively dressed in Spanish costumes. Miss Lella Watson, faculty advisor of the jaycee honor organizations and state president of the advisory section, worked with Reinhardt in the planning of the convention and presided at the faculty meeting.

ran third to Gallant Fox and Equipoise in point of earnings. Gallant Fox, of course, was far and away the best meal ticket, but Equipoise and Jamestown had a close battle for second honors, Equipoise winning $156,835, while Jamestown earned $151,925. Jamestown won six out of seven starts, placing in the other, among his triumphs being the Belmont Futurity, the Grand Union Hotel Stakes, the Saratoga Special and the U. S. Hotel Stakes.

In the Belmont Futurity, Jamestown took the measure of Equipoise and Mate, running the Widener Course (about seven-eighths of a mile, straight) in 1:20 3-5. Watch Jamestown!

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Max Schmeling probably will earn between $200,000 and $250,000 for his fight with Young Stribling at Cleveland July 3... that is based on a gate of $500,000 and up. Schmeling's end being 40 per cent... that is, Schmeling & Associates' end, rather... after the associates get through with the cake, a large chunk will be missing... figuring on a gate of $500,000 this far in advance seems safe... that kind of gate would give Stribling $250,000... Dempsey is giving the boys a 60-40 arrangement at Reno July 4, the winner taking the big end of the purse.

TRAVELING FARM CONFERENCE ENDS

Returning recently from the traveling farm bureau conference conducted by the University of California, John W. Crill, president of the Farm bureau, and J. A. Smiley, state director, who were local delegates on the trip, reported that the event was a marked success. The group traveled over 750 miles on conference work and took many side trips.

There were 175 delegates traveling in 44 cars that journeyed over the northern part of the state, meeting with local Farm bureaus in each county. One representative from each county of the extension service was present.

The purpose of the conference, according to Crill, was to develop progress in various phases of agriculture and home economic work, and to learn of the accomplishments made by organized effort of the Farm bureau.

Addresses Heard Yesterday In Santa Ana Churches

'SUPREME GIFT' IS SUBJECT OF PASTOR'S TALK

At the First United Brethren church, 1101 West Third street, the Rev. R. W. Harlow, pastor, brought the following message to his congregation yesterday morning, from the topic: "The Supreme Gift." He said in part:

"The incident related in the Scripture lesson is one of the most beautiful events in the last week of our Lord's earthly life, affording a most pleasing contrast to the dark plotting, the insolence, the cunning cruelty, and bitter hatred of the Pharisees. He had come to His own and His own had received Him not. They had refused to hear Him, and now in the darkness were planning to take His life. He knew that the hour would soon strike when the bitter hate and unrelenting scorn of a merciless ecclesiasticism would burst upon Him.

"His soul is 'sorrowful even unto death.' No one can enter sympathetically into the sorrow, the agony, the gloom, that foreshadowed His coming doom—not even His disciples. He must 'tread the wine-press alone.'

"No; not wholly alone. Here is a woman, whose quick intuition and loving sympathy are not to be deceived. She knows that He is facing a crisis. Somehow she understands. As an expression of her deep sympathy and boundless love and gratitude, she brings the box of ointment, as a silent expression of what she cannot express in words. It is love's gift; the gift of love too deep and tender for mere words. Oh that our love was such.

"It is significant of the greatest honor and esteem. We occidentals can hardly enter into the deep meaning that the bestowal of such a gift had to the oriental mind. The ointment of spikenard was very costly, the kind that oriental kings used at the entertainment of honored guests. The lowly Nazarene who a few days ago heard the triumphant acclaim, 'Hosanna! Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord,' will soon hang lifeless on the cruel cross, but before He goes has this kindly recognition from a queenly hand.

"It meant to Mary the same as it meant to Jesus. It was a preparation beforehand for the day of His burial. She brought her funeral flowers while they could be seen and appreciated. I like those beautiful floral tributes we make to the sacred memory of our friends and loved ones, but I wish we might scatter more of them in the form of kindly deeds, while they live. Personally I would prefer mine while I live. There are many hearts breaking today because some one has failed to express a little appreciation of their work.

"Jesus' heart was encouraged and He said, 'She hath wrought a good work upon me.' Do as Mary did. Give your flowers now. Do not wait until it is too late. With her there was an understanding sympathy, a silent tribute of love, a loyalty and devotion that prompted the best gift, 'Go and do thou likewise.'

SERMON DEALS WITH JESUS AS GREAT TEACHER

Explaining the words of Jesus "Resist not evil," the Rev. Paul Andres, pastor of the Christian Spiritual Science church told his congregation last night that the Master meant the way to suppress evil is to return good for evil. The sermon, which was on the subject "Christ, the Great Teacher," was based on the text "Never man spake like this man," John 7:46.

"No popular orator can ever be compared to Christ, even in point of eloquence," the Rev. Mr. Andres said. "He stands at the head of that select saintly few who have received from God the power to move the people without appealing to their earthly passions.

"He never made use of the slightest sophism. He never deviated in the slightest from the truth; He could show consideration, without flattering them, for the weaknesses of those who heard Him; He always suited His discourse to His hearers, employing one form of speech with His apostles in the familiarity of private intercourse, another with the Pharisees and the learned, and yet another when He addressed the multitude.

"To His disciples He opens His heart, whence flow truths, eloquent and tender; addressing the learned, He confounds them by the irresistible logic of His arguments, and rebukes their hypocrisy by His crushing anathemas; to the people He expounds His doctrine, veiled in parables.

"I believe that the true spiritual philosopher cannot but discern one sublime and original thought, which, even in dark misunderstanding and in deep corruption, constitutes the redeeming feature and the Divine power in the minds of believers. This thought is nothing less than that great fundamental spiritual idea of the reunion of the mind of mortal man with God, by thankful sacrifice of self, in life, and therefore also in worship.

"As for the Master Himself, so for His followers, there can be no rest till the work is done. If they are still to follow Him, they must not stand still, must not even look back, till the furrow is ploughed; they must not stop to bring away their things or say good-bye to the people at home; they must not cling to parents or wife, but must say farewell to all that has made life worth living up till then. If they would go and preach the kingdom of God they must launch into the deep, and make the joint adventure fearlessly.

"I now understand the words of the Master: 'Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth; but I say unto you that ye resist not evil.' The Master's meaning is: You have thought that you were acting in a reasonable manner in defending yourself by violence against evil, in tearing out an eye for an eye, by fighting against evil with criminal tribunals, guarding of the peace with armies; but I say unto you, Renounce violence; have nothing to do with violence; do harm to no one, no t even to your enemy."

"I understand now that in saying 'Resist not evil,' the Master not only told us what would result from the observance of this rule, but established a new basis for society conformable to His doctrine and opposed to the social basis established by the law of Moses, by Roman law, and by the different codes in force today. He formulated a new law whose effect would be to deliver humanity from its self-inflicted woes. His declaration was: 'You believe that your laws reform criminals; as a matter of fact, they only make more criminals. There is only one way to suppress evil, and that is to return good for evil, without respect of person. For thousands of years you have tried the other method, now try mine.'

PASTOR SAYS SIN IS ONLY REAL DANGER

"Advice is cheap—about the cheapest commodity on the market today," declared the Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, in his morning sermon yesterday. "Plee as a Bird," was the theme of his remarks, based upon words of David found in Psalms 11:1, 'In the Lord put I my trust: how say ye to my soul, Plee as a bird to your mountain?'

Proceeding the sermon, Mrs. U. E. Harding sang, "It Takes the Storm Cloud to Form the Rainbow" (Buffy). "The words of the text," said the Rev. Mr. Harding, "were pressed out of the soul of David in a time of great distress and trouble. As a victim of the jealousy of Saul, and being trailed as a common criminal he was advised to escape to the safety of the mountains. While the great David questioned this advice, declaring his trust in God, in this advice is a suggestion which is vital to our spiritual life."

"From what should we flee? Do not flee from hard work. There is a blessing to whole-hearted service which comes in no other way. Many go to church to be spiritually blessed, emotionally stirred, or mentally amused. But to please God we must realize that true religion is far more than these, and must give our lives in real and effective service. Again, do not flee from trouble and suffering. The storms will come, but when they come, let them do for you what the tempest does for the great trees which send their roots the more deeply and firmly into the crevices of the rocks and earth. The only way to spiritual strength is through trials and tests.

"Flee from what? Flee from evil, yes, the very appearance of evil, sin is seductive and treacherous. When in the presence of evil, he who hesitates is lost. As a little bird takes wing at the sight of the snare and the fowler expects us to flee quickly at the appearance and presence of sin. Sin is our only real danger for in it lurks death everlasting.

"Flee where? Do not flee to men, for man's sympathy and help is fickle and impotent. Flee to God, for He is your Mount Zion which cannot be moved. He knows all, loves you, understands, and is ready to aid you in His infinite power."

At the evening service, Lynwood

'MAN'S LIFE' IS TOPIC OF
REV. HATTER

That the secret of true life is doing one's full duty to God and man, was the assertion of the Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah in his sermon on "A Man's Life" yesterday. The text was from Luke 12:15. The Rev. Mr. Hatter said in part:

"A man's life does not consist of his possessions, but in the way he lives his life. We often think of a true life as a successful life, and measure success by possessions. This is not true, however. Real success is not material success and the secret of a true life is doing one's full duty to God and man.

"It is easy to destroy the life of the body, but we cannot give life; only God can do that. Since life is given us for only a little while, we must not throw it recklessly away.

"To reach this real success, we must be in earnest, doing our duty to God and man with our whole hearts. No one succeeds unless he is in earnest about his work. We must try for the high end in life and not be content with second best. Those content to sleep in the valley will never attain the mountain top of success.

"Unselfishness is another requisite of true life. We must use our influence for the good of others, to help and inspire them, and to serve those that need us. Pre-emptive is another needed quality. It is so easily to start out enthusiastically on the right path and then to become tired by the way and to do our duty only half-heartedly.

"If we would live the true life, we need a model to look to and that is Christ. We must watch Him and follow His example if we would succeed. No other life has been perfect but His. Often we forget what He is still doing for us—interceding for us with the Father.

"Calvary was not the end. After that came the Resurrection, the Ascension, and finally Pentecost, the coming of the Holy Ghost, which is still being given today as we accept this gift of the Holy Ghost. Our lives will be acceptable to God.

"To lead the true life, we must accept the Holy Spirit which is given to us in the sacraments of Baptism and Holy Communion, at confirmation, in the ordination of ministers, and in church services to all who will ask God for it in faith.

"Every good and every perfect gift is from above. Every virtue, every victory, every holiness of ours is from God, and unless we have some of these, God and the Holy Ghost are not in us. 'Without Me ye can do nothing.' Some so-called Christians try to work without Christ and can do nothing. God will freely give, again and again, to all who ask in faith, this indwelling of the Holy Spirit without which we cannot live the true life."

Mitchell, negro baritone, sang, "Goin' Home" (Dvorak), and "O Redeemer Console Me" (Cora). Mrs. Harding, assisted by her two small sons, Jackie and U. E. Jr., sang "Jesus Never Fails."

PRESBYTERIAN
BIBLE SCHOOL
ATHLETES WIN

Representatives of the First Presbyterian Bible school carried away first honors and the loving cup for their church school at the triangular Sunday school picnic and athletic meet which was held Saturday at Irvine park in which the First M. E. and Spurgeon M. E. Bible schools were the other participants.

Approximately 1000 persons gathered about the picnic tables at noon as the group paused in the program of the day for the basket dinner. All joined in singing the Doxology before eating.

A total of 39 points was rolled up by the Presbyterians to win the cup, with Spurgeon in second place with 24 points and First M. E. holding third with 19 points.

The loving cup was presented to Walter Kring, director of religious education of the First Presbyterian church, by A. H. Theal, superintendent of the First M. E. Sunday school. Badges were given to winners in the children's events.

The horse shoe pitching contest was won by the Spurgeon team, of which H. Walton was captain and the Rev. Cecil Aker, lieutenant. Baseball championship in the men's division went to the Presbyterians who in the final game defeated the First M. E. team, 11-2. The Spurgeon team having been eliminated in a 10-2 game by the First M. E. team. The Presbyterians also won the championship by defeating the First M. E. team. The Spurgeon boys, in the 14-year-old division, defeated the Presbyterians for championship. Both of these followed elimination games in which the third teams were shut out of the running.

Feature events which created much amusement were the centipede race and the flour race. The first in which teams of four men straddling a bamboo pole raced down the course, was won by the Presbyterians. Spurgeon M. E. was second and First M. E. third. In the flour race one boy from each school was entered. They had to find and pick up nickels, using their mouths only, which were buried under flour in a large pan. Tom Ham, of the Presbyterian Sunday school won this event, the First M. E. second and Spurgeon holding third place.

Dash winners were as follows:

35-yard, boys 7 and 8—Bobby Sleekert, Presbyterian, first; Robert Wilson, Spurgeon M. E. second. Girls—Lela Slaback, Spurgeon M. E. first; Luella Ketscher, Presbyterian, third. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul and Body" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text, "If ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live," was from Paul's Epistle to the Romans.

One of the Scripture selections in the Lesson-Sermon presented Christ Jesus' words: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body more than raiment?"

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated, "If we follow the command of our Master, 'Take no thought for your life,' we shall never depend on bodily conditions, structure, or economy, but we shall be masters of the body, dictate its terms, and form and control it with Truth."

LESSON DEALS WITH NEED OF ARBITRATION

Need of upholding the principles of good government and of attempts to arbitrate differences before going to war was stressed in the lesson on "Jesus Facing the End" which was given to members of the Men's Community Bible class at the Fox West Coast theater yesterday morning by the Rev. Walter S. Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church and class teacher.

The scriptural story was first told by the teacher, of how Jesus came to Jerusalem with His disciples to eat the Passover feast and told them to follow a man whom they would find carrying a water pitcher and he would lead them to the room where they could eat. The teacher then turned to other matters.

"This nation has great ideals and its people have stood for them when the need arose," he said. "The Civil war resulted in freeing the colored people and maintaining the unity of the government. Jesus frees us from sin and maintains the unity of the kingdom of God."

"The need of today is to uphold true government and right principles. We want to solve the difficulties of life, but that can't be done with anger in the heart. Hatred and anger produce war. We should have come together with our opponents and talked our differences over before resorting to arms during the World war. Christ told us to love our enemies as well as our neighbors. There is no profit in war."

"When men go to war, it should be to protect right causes and uphold great principles, not because they are inflamed with lies told to make them angry. Christ maintained His principles even on the cross where He was dying in agony."

"Men, of Santa Ana, hold fast to the fundamental principles, uphold the law and constitution of this nation, follow the leadership of Christ."

Patriotic airs and martial music in observance of the approach of Memorial day was a feature of the service yesterday. This music was furnished by the Sons of Veterans Drum Corps, which played in front of the theater before the service and also played again during the entertainment.

WELL AT BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 25.—The McCaslin well in the town lot section at the corner of Olive and Twenty-first streets has drilled by the core barrel and collar lost in the well and is again making hole in the formation. Conditions are said to be encouraging.

The McCaslin well has not picked up the same formation the Superior wells at Nineteenth and Walnut and at Fifteenth and Ocean set casing for. This formation is the vaqueros. The oil and gas bearing strata is very hard, a brown gray sand, streaked with shale, having a high gas pressure and believed to be likely to prove highly productive of high gravity oil.

It is regarded by oil men that were normal conditions prevailing in the oil industry, this city would get a tremendous oil boom on account of the deep sand prospects, but conditions in the field are quiet.

The deep sand discoveries here add to the potential value of the tide lands for oil drilling. Public sentiment is declared strongly in favor of tide lands oil drilling in order that the city may derive some profit from the oil underlying the tide lands and now being drained by wells along the beach. It is felt here that Governor Rolph will sign the bill granting Huntington Beach her tide lands. Newport Beach has been granted its tide lands and if the lands are not productive of oil, the city will be benefitted by holding title to the lands.

Under modern scientific methods of drilling, there is little likelihood that a drop of oil from drilling operations would get into the ocean. Oil tankers pump their bilges 10 miles out from shore and this waste oil and the natural oil seepage from the ocean bed cause some oil smear on the beaches at all times.

period of the hour. The organization is under the direction of C. G. Corrad. One of the members of the corps, W. J. Corrad, has a drum which his father had made and which saw service during the Civil war. It was bloodstained as a result of the death of the drummer in action.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, May 25.—The La Habra Hill Billies played for the Fullerton union high school basketball team at noon Friday and in the evening played at the La Habra Methodist church.

Supt. E. R. Berry announced that graduation exercises will be held June 11 at 5:30 p. m. on the front lawn of the Washington grammar school. The speaker will be announced later. This year there are about 60 pupils graduating.

Members of the music section of the La Habra Women's Improvement club gathered at the home of Mrs. Rollo W. Walling on North Hazel street for their regular meeting. Plans were made for the new club year beginning in September. Present were Mrs. J. R. Horner, director of the section, and Mrs. Ashley Doss, pianist of Fullerton; Mrs. E. R. Berry, Mrs. A. J. Young, Mrs. Labe H. Brewer, Mrs. R. B. Wayne, Mrs. Ray F. Prantz, Mrs. P. B. Erwin, Mrs. J. W. Camp, Mrs. J. A. Cheving and Mrs. Walling.

At the regular meeting of the Boy Scouts, troop No. 38, Gordon Donaldson, Ray Leadbetter and Wallace McClure were added to the La Habra troop. GUESSEWORK REMOVED BY ROASTING COFFEE IN SMALL QUANTITIES

Patented Process Invented by Hills Bros. Insures Delicious, Uniform Flavor Always

When coffee is roasted in the ordinary way, which is in two or three hundred pound lots, it is a problem to get an even roast. Some of the berries may be overdone, some underdone. What is more, one batch may vary from another in color. All of these variations prevent a uniform flavor.

Hills Bros. overcame this problem by inventing and patenting a roasting method that automatically regulates the amount of coffee roasted and the degree of heat. By a slow but continuous process, only a few pounds at a time pass through the roasters. So exact is the control, that every berry is roasted evenly and gives a matchless, uniform flavor in every cup.

No other coffee can taste like Hills Bros. Coffee because no other coffee is roasted the same way. The continuous process, Controlled Roasting, that means so much in flavor and strength is Hills Bros. exclusively.

When you buy Hills Bros. Coffee it is as fresh and rich in flavor and aroma as when it comes from the roasters. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is completely excluded from the vacuum cans in which Hills Bros. Coffee is packed. Coffee packed in ordinary air-tight cans does not stay fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can. Sold everywhere.

Two Charming Affairs Are Presented By Mrs. C. E. Utt

Two successive days at the end of the past week were devoted by Mrs. C. E. Utt to entertaining a number of her friends in her beautiful home which crowns the eminence at Lemon Heights.

The parties were similar in details of hospitality, decorations and charm, differing only in the guest groups. For at the first of the twin events, held on Thursday, Mrs. Utt greeted her friends from Tustin, while Friday's guest list was largely drawn from Santa Ana friends. Her daughter, Miss Marjorie Rawlings, assisted in receiving the guests, while Mrs. Leeland Finley and Mrs. James B. Utt aided in details of serving the luncheon menus.

In adopting a decorative effect of yellow and lavender, the hostess used coreopsis, scabiosa and pansy blossoms, mingled with the graceful sprays of Lluvia d'Ora and Jacaranda blooms. The history of the Lluvia d'Ora (showers of gold) added interest, for Mrs. Utt brought the seeds from Mexico some years ago and has watched them grow from tiny seedlings to a height of some 20 feet. Another striking floral effect was seen in the great basket of yellow snapdragons sent by Mrs. Burr Wellington from her hill-top gardens at Lemon Heights.

Five tables were called into play at Thursday's hospitality, and Mrs. Robert Korss held high honors with Mrs. Philip Hatzfeld second. On the succeeding day when six tables were employed, Mrs. M. D. Borgmeyer was first and Mrs. Leeland Finley second. Gifts were similar at the two functions, first prizes being artistic flower vases and second prizes card table covers in attractive design.

The great English poet and essayist, Pope, was an epicure and lay—lying in bed for days unless he was told there were stewed lampreys for dinner.

Country Club Luncheon Is Compliment to Old Friends

Friendships of many years' standing were renewed late last week when Mrs. Claude H. Van Antwerp of 2304 North Broadway, entertained a group of Baldwin Park guests as a compliment to Mrs. L. A. Murphy, now of Los Angeles. Mrs. Van Antwerp staged her hospitality in Santa Ana Country club where Mrs. Murphy was delighted at the arrival of the remainder of the guests, since her hostess had planned details of the affair as a surprise to her.

A great basket of unusually lovely flowers centered the table where covers were laid for hostess and honoree, Mrs. Van Antwerp and Mrs. Murphy. Mrs. D. J. Shults, Mrs. H. J. Shilling, Mrs. Francis Sawyer, Mrs. George Mayland, Mrs. O. A. Paul and Miss Bessie Shults of Baldwin Park, and Mrs. Marley Hamlin of Los Angeles.

The afternoon was given over to happy reminiscences of the days a dozen years ago, when all were close friends and neighbors in the little San Gabriel valley community, and the hostess recalled that Mrs. Murphy had been her first California neighbor, with happy associations that had endured throughout the intervening years.

Informal Studio Party Is Compliment to Guest Artist

Complimenting his guest artist, Douglas Beattie of Los Angeles, who had assisted on the annual spring recital program given Friday night in Ebell auditorium, Earl Fraser was host at an informal affair in his studio in the Greenleaf building as a sequel to the recital of the earlier evening hours.

Some of the friends who had motored from San Diego, Los Angeles and Hollywood for the event were entertained together with a very few Santa Ana guests.

The latter were happy to greet Alois Bohnen, San Diego artist, who is a frequent guest in this city of Mr. Fraser; also the young Arthur Ronins. Arthur Ronin will be remembered as one of the most talented piano pupils ever introduced by Mr. Fraser. Frank Carroll Giff and his two daughters, first prizes being artistic flower vases and second prizes card table covers in attractive design.

Altogether a score or more of guests assembled to meet Mr. Beattie, whose personality proved quite as delightful in private as it did when he first appeared here as guest artist with the Cantando club at its concluding program of the season. Among the Santa Ana friends invited were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Matthews (Mrs. Matthews is Ollmae Enlow Matthews, violinist), Mrs. and Mrs. Burr Shafer (Mrs. Shafer is Gladys Simpson Shafer, drama and expression teacher), Mr. and Mrs. Leon Eckles, Robert White and several others.

CHARMINGLY APPOINTED TEA HONORS NEW STATE OFFICERS

Just a little over a week ago California auxiliaries of the Disabled Veterans of the World War chapters gathered at Santa Monica for a state convention, and many of the delegates in attendance there were in this city yesterday afternoon as guests at a charming tea presided over by Mrs. Mary Fisher and Miss Lydia Fisher in their home, 516 South Birch street.

The affair was a special compliment to Mrs. Rose Edwards and Mrs. Katherine Rasmussen, both of this city, who were chosen state commander and state adjutant at the recent convocation. The hostess group included members of the auxiliary to the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled Veterans of the World War, of which Miss Fisher is commander.

Pretty Gowns Worn

Mrs. Fisher greeted guests wearing a filmy white frock, while Miss Fisher chose an orchid and green chiffon. Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Rasmussen were in the receiving line. Mrs. Edwards attracted in pink chiffon and Mrs. Rasmussen in black chiffon with rose flowers. The three state officers, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Rasmussen and Mrs. Irene Pinney, commander of the Los Angeles auxiliary, and newly elected state treasurer, were presented with lovely corsage bouquets. Mrs. Pinney made an attractive appearance in her gown of tomato red.

Many Flowers

Colorful indeed were the many baskets of gladioluses, roses and other spring flowers artistically arranged throughout the rooms. Their dainty hues were reflected again at the tea table, where an exquisite lace cloth served as the setting for other appointments. An old-fashioned nose-gay reposing amidst a bower of fern on a lace doily was the central figure. Blossoms used centered around bright-hued pansies.

Puffies, prettily-cut sandwiches, and cookies and cakes held their places of honor, and were served with tea and coffee. Mrs. Ella Pickard and Mrs. Hilda Riehl, past commanders of the auxiliary, presided at the urns. Mrs. Pickard was wearing a yellow flowered gown, and Mrs. Riehl a rose and white flowered. Others assisting in serving were Mrs. Marguerite Lutz, Mrs. Hazel Chittenden and Mrs. Frances Fisher.

Awarded Trophy

Much interest revolved around the handsome loving cup which was in evidence. This was presented to Mrs. Fisher at the recent convention for holding high honors in the membership contest. Mrs. Ella Taylor, a past commander, made the presentation.

About 100 guests were present to honor Mrs. Rasmussen and Mrs. Edwards, and included Mrs. Irene Pinney, commander of the Los Angeles auxiliary, and Mrs. Nora Bates, Smith, Mrs. Thornbury, Mrs. Danb, Mrs. Winick, Mrs. Broderick and Mrs. Windham, also of Los Angeles; Mrs. Anne De Muth, commander of San Diego auxiliary, and Mrs. Frances Lynch and Mrs. Loretta Coltran, of that city; Mrs. Elizabeth Walters, commander of Santa Monica auxiliary, and Mrs. Irwin of that city.

Dinner Guests Share Pleasant Evening Of Bridge

Entertaining Saturday evening at a bridge dinner of much charm, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Daigle received their friends at the Highway Tea garden where dinner was served. The beautiful flowers available there for decorative purposes, made the tables doubly inviting for the serving of a five course dinner menu.

Spanish colors of red and yellow were especially marked among the blossoms and Mrs. Daigle (who will be remembered as the former Miss Elsie Fluor) stressed this motif by using place cards bearing dashing caballeros and pretty señoritas.

Following the dinner hour, hosts and guests returned to the home of Mrs. Daigle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Simon Fluor, 1514 North Main street, where tables were in readiness for bridge. Again the Spanish note was sounded in taily cards and in the brilliant gladioluses and snapdragons which grow in such profusion in the garden of the home.

Mrs. Jess Goodman scored high and received a graceful pottery vase, while Fred Fluor, high among the men, was rewarded with a matched tie and handkerchief. Mr. and Mrs. Simon Fluor Jr. had the lowest combined score, so to them was presented consolation of a two-deck bridge set.

Mr. and Mrs. Daigle's guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. Simon Fluor, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fluor, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fisher, Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Peter E. Fluor and Mr. and Mrs. J. Simon Fluor Jr., of Anaheim.

Enjoyable Party Given Over to Birthday Surprise

In adding a pretty evening party to the enjoyable events of last week, Miss Esther Vogt and Miss Mary Mendenhall made their plans as a birthday surprise complimentary to Miss Florence Warner, and entertained in the home of Miss Vogt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Vogt, 706 East Sixth street.

Gladioluses, coreopsis and feathery greenery contributed to the charming pink, yellow and green color theme of the evening, and formed graceful masses of bloom throughout the home. A varied game program was introduced and the young people spent a merry evening in the contest, with Fred Pinkston and Kenneth Ulrich securing the prizes awarded for supremacy.

Late in the evening small tables were arranged with attractive flowers and for the serving of an appetizing two-course supper, in which the two hostesses had the assistance of Mrs. Vogt. The latter had baked a delicious cake laced in pink and gleaming with pink candles, and this was placed before Miss Warner when the sweets course was served, for her to cut in celebration of her birthday anniversary.

In addition to the birthday cake were many other pretty gifts for the honoree from the assembled friends who included in addition to the hostesses, Miss Esther Vogt and Miss Mary Mendenhall, Miss Catherine Budd, Miss Betty Hell, Miss Jeannette Lutes, Miss Margaret Guthrie, Miss Venna Goodman, and Messrs. Harry Motley, Carl Doss, Harold Lutes, Fred Pinkston, Austin Joy, Charles Warner, David Whitford and Kenneth Ulrich.

Further improvements have been made this week at the Wilson dairy of Robert Hazard. A number of new electric screens for sanitation have been added. A building housing a number of canaries has just been put in as a decorative feature of the dairy yard.

This dairy, which has a total of 150 head of stock, 81 of which are milking, has just received another blue ribbon for the first cow in the county for the last month's butterfat test, Blanche, fine Holstein cow, having produced 126 pounds of butter.

Music Recital

Attracting a crowd which taxed the seating capacity of the Ebell auditorium, Friday night's annual spring recital in which Earl Fraser presented nearly a score of his piano pupils, proved to be all that had been anticipated for it as a musical program of rare merit, illustrating as it did, the progress made by the various young people who are studying under this well-known artist-teacher.

From the opening numbers by some of the younger players, to the finale by Everett Stovall, one of the most talented young musicians in the city, the program held the close attention of the audience, with each number receiving merited applause. This applause reached enthusiasm in many cases, and was especially marked for Mr. Fraser's guest artist, Douglas Beattie, Los Angeles bass-baritone, who sang three solo groups with his host at the piano.

These included "Amirill" by Guilo Caccini; a Handel "Aria"; "Die Krahe" and "Der Leiermann" by Franz Schubert; "Cradle Song" by Gretcheninnoff; "The King Goes Forth to War" by Koenenman, and one encore number, "The Statue at Czarskoi-Sele" by Cesar Cui.

The work of the young piano students without exception, showed a facility and precision that seemed remarkable. In the case of one, Miss Helen Motley, it was the result of but 10 months' study under Mr. Fraser. Others had taken for varying periods, but all displayed a fine full tone and a musicianship that were deemed admirable indeed by the critics present.

Bernard Fields' rendering of the Lechetsky arrangement for the left hand of the sextet from Donizetti's "Lucia," was exceptionally well received and Miss Imogene McCauley's interpretation of "Fountain" by Ravel was a beautifully fluid one.

Mrs. Margaret Gregg played "Waltz in E" by Moszkowski with power and a graceful touch, while Arthur Jacques gave a brilliant rendering of Dohnanyi's "Capriccio." Miss Beatrice Granas gave one of the outstanding groups of the evening, opening with "Sollouky," her own composition, and followed with "The Erl-King," a Schubert-Liszt number.

Miss Josephine Madrid, a youthful artist who has a great future prophesied for her, also played an original composition, "Theme and Variations," a number of power and beauty, followed by the "Gypsy Song" from Bizet's "Carmen," arranged by Moszkowski.

Two of the pupils on the program, Miss Eva Ramsey and Everett Stovall, are semi-professionals and their work attracted much enthusiastic attention. Miss Ramsey played "The Trout" by Schubert-Godowsky with fine technique and expression and the program closed with "Nella," waltz by Delibes-Dohnanyi, presented by Everard Stovall in his finest form.

The same high standard was shown by Weldon Pagenkopp in "Calmerie" by Ravina; Albert Resnick in "Valse" by Soré; Dorothy Gutman in "Elle Danse" by Friedhelm; Mary Robinson in "Juglers" by Godard; Audrey Peiper in a Schubert "Impromptu"; Alice Compton in "Caprice Espagnol" by Moszkowski; Alta Fish Fischer in "Sonatine" by Ravel, and Lillian Hurwitz in "Voices of the Woods" by Liszt.

Student Recital

Offering a program of marked interest Friday night, Miss Mildred Marchant presented a group of her pupils in a recital which attracted a large group of friends to the Santa Ana Academy of Music, West Fourth street, where the program was given. Pink carnations from the gardens of Mrs. Elmer Ulseth, Santa Ana, and gladioluses from Miss Marchant's Tustin home, were used to decorate the rooms.

The program included: "Valse in E flat" (Durand) by Lois Franke; "Robin Sings a Merry Tune" (Benson) by Lenora Marchant; "The Song" by Lenora Marchant; "Ocean" and "The Zol-o-Link" (Williams) by Kathryn Cox; whistling solos, "Gavotte from Mignon" (Thomas) and "Sylvia" (Oley) by Kathryn Cox; "The Zol-o-Link" (Williams) by Kathryn Cox; whistling solos, "Gavotte from Mignon" (Thomas) and "Sylvia" (Oley) by Kathryn Cox; "The Zol-o-Link" (Williams) by Kathryn Cox; whistling solos, "Gavotte from Mignon" (Thomas) and "Sylvia" (Oley) by Kathryn Cox.

OCEANVIEW

OCEANVIEW, May 25.—Members of the seventh and eighth grades of the Oceanview school, several of the teachers, including Prof. R. A. Shostag, Mrs. Moulton and Miss Washburn, with W. DeLavigne of the school board and Mrs. DeLavigne, took an educational trip Wednesday, the school bus and two private cars taking the 35 pupils of the seventh grade and the 21 pupils of the eighth grade on the outing. The Los Angeles museum was first visited, then they motored to Los Angeles harbor. Disappointments awaited them there, for the battleship Oklahoma, which the group had expected to visit, had failed to get in from target practice.

Arrangements have been made for holding of the pre-school examination for Oceanview district, May 29 at the school. Miss Eckdall, local school nurse, gave up usual visit to the school Wednesday that it might be possible for her to accompany the school on the annual picnic to Irvine park Friday and next Wednesday her visit will again be delayed on account of the pre-school examination.

The members of the Oceanview commencement class were honored guests Tuesday evening, when they were entertained by the 35 members of the seventh grade at the school, where a program was given and games played prior to the serving of refreshments of cake.

The president of the eighth grade class, Laura Hill, responded with an original poem to a speech made by Orpha DeBusk, seventh grade president, representing her class, and Moxelle Turner presented a clever playlet for the seventh grade pupils. Joseph Gebauer, seventh grade teacher, spoke as did Professor Shostag, district superintendent.

Pasty Skins, Dull Eyes Are Unnecessary
Health and beauty go hand in hand clear to the end of life. There can be no real beauty in an unhealthy body, yet how often do we attempt to cover up the facial ravages of ill health with an extra layer of make-up! We deceive no one but ourselves, for posture, walk and dulled eyes discount the bright story rouge and powder try to put over.

I hate to say it, but at least half of the pasty skins, dull eyes, and camel walks are due to the inability to say "no" to second helpings of fat-making foods. Stomachs are subject to unalterable laws in what they can and cannot digest; when double their quota of fat foods is thrust on them, minus the necessary alkaline fruit and vegetable, they just lie down on their job, sour stomachs result, and from that start bursts forth the beauty-destroying forces of heartburn, sick headaches, slow elimination, constipation, jangled nerves and short tempers.

To correct the situation I have a better rule to substitute for the old one of leaving the table just a little hungry. Eat all you want, but first satisfy your appetite with cooked green vegetables, a green salad, fresh fruit of some kind, a little meat, then if you have any room left you can fill it up with cake-pie-whipped-cream-et al and feel like a million dollars.

Tomorrow I have something important to say on what constitutes the sensible point for your weight.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Lemon Cheese Cakes
1 1/2 cups fine cottage cheese
6 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons cream
1 lemon, juice and grated rind
3 eggs, beaten light
1/2 cup sliced citron and currants mixed
1 teaspoon vanilla, pinch of salt.
Cottage cheese for these little cakes must be the dry kind, as it is before cream is added to it. Care must be taken in preparing it for the cakes to make it as fine as cornmeal, and this can only be done by pressing it through a sieve or running it twice through the potato ricer. We'll assume that you have now done that, and—

To the sifted cottage cheese add the cream and sugar, mix well with spoon, add the beaten eggs and whip the mixture with the egg beater until you are sure the cheese is velvety-smooth. The lemon juice and grated rind, salt, vanilla, currants and citron are added and the mixture is used to fill pastry-lined muffin tins.

Bake about 15 minutes, with the oven very hot the first five minutes then reduced to slow for the rest of the time.

If all of the family do not like cheese cake, this is a nice way to serve those who do like it, without waste. Chill the tarts well before serving.

This recipe will make 12 small tarts. Each tart has caloric values of 135, with energy units leading the field.

Simple summer desserts will appeal to every housewife who uses this column, for who likes to stay in a hot kitchen and make fussy pies and cakes when they can serve something else just as good and far easier to prepare? This leaflet is available free of charge all week if you will send in a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tuesday, the cooking lesson will feature an oven dinner, all in one, and in a casserole.

Charming Farewell Party Given By Co-Hostesses

A charming farewell courtesy was extended Friday to Mrs. J. E. Breakey when Mrs. Raymond C. Edwards and Mrs. John J. Vernon entertained in the latter's home, 2020 Santiago avenue. Mrs. Breakey and her daughter, Edith-Jean, left Saturday for Kansas City, where they have been called because of illness in the family.

The floral motif of the day was carried out through the use of a large basket of gladioli and several bowls of vivid-hued carnations which graced the rooms. The chosen color scheme of yellow, pink and blue was evidenced in all appointments. Alert porters carrying luggage served as tallies for the bridge games of the day, although several guests spent the afternoon in doing fancy work.

In the card games Mrs. Dora A. Lewis scored high, Mrs. A. J. Anderson second high and Mrs. R. T. Dixon low. Much excitement prevailed when Mrs. Vernon announced that a bluebird had dropped packages at the door, and these were presented to Mrs. Breakey. They proved to contain many dainty handkerchiefs.

During the refreshment hour tables were spread with Madeira and Italian cut work linens. Mrs. Olan P. Turner assisted the hostesses in their duties.

Guests present, other than Mrs. Breakey, were Mesdames George Lackaye, O. F. Turner, Oliver Hall, H. McVicker Smith, C. P. Laxton, Arch Anderson, Dora A. Lewis, Herbert Krahling, C. C. Halsell, George Palmer, A. J. Anderson, R. T. Dixon and the hostesses, Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Edwards.

Jaysee Spinsters Have Semi-Annual Dance In Long Beach

In the picturesque Long Beach Pacific Coast clubhouse Santa Ana junior college Sisterhood of Spinsters Friday night held its semi-annual formal dinner dance which culminated in a social hour in celebration of the organization of the sisterhood a year ago.

Spinsters and their guests, meeting in the lounge, proceeded to the dining room, where a long table with a lovely basket of spring and summer flowers as the centerpiece, awaited them. Preceding the program dance held in the ballroom of the clubhouse, the group danced between the courses of the delicious dinner.

In their summery pastel gowns and carrying the attractive dance programs in the club colors of green and white with a silver "S" monogrammed on the cover, the college women created a charming picture.

Miss Margaret Wilson, supreme spinster, had complete charge of the affair, with Miss Marjorie Arundell assisting with the decorations.

Special guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Gwald Oliver and alumna members were Miss Mary McHenry and Miss Hazel Guilbert. Spinsters present were the Mesdames Margaret Wilson, Mary Todd Tate, Ada Marie Hendricks, Bernadine Bender, Ione de Remer, Marjorie Walton, Allen Adams, Nelle Gratton, Grayce Skinner, Marjorie Arundell, Frances Bowman, Helen Hendricks, Margery Adams, Louise Proctor, Bernice Keller, Betty Wiswall and Mary Isch. Guests of the club were Mesdames Wayne Flynn, Edwin Hind, Dick Davidson, Don Harrison, Gordon McHatten, Warren Shutz, Stanley Johnson, Bert Wilkins, Bob White, Francis Robb, Hal Dunham, Sam Piety, Lloyd Morris, Ethel Lauderdale, Leonard Morris, James Privett, Bill Hanson, Herb Stroheim and Bob Chapman.

Bridge Luncheon Is Pretty Event of The Week

A pretty bridge luncheon of the past week was given Friday afternoon, when Mrs. Foster Lamm entertained in her home at 1124 North Olive street. The menu was served at daintily appointed tables centered with bright-hued spring blossoms.

In the card games of the afternoon Mrs. Lewis Sawyer held high score, Mrs. John McCarthy second high and Mrs. Arthur Tiernan low. Attractive prize awards were made. Guests included Mesdames W. B. Williams, Alex Brownridge, R. M. Alexander, Joseph Metzger, Walter Waldren, Major Anderson, Lyle Anderson, Harold Yost, John McCarthy, Edmund West, Robert Wade, T. R. Trawick, Arthur Trawick, Howard Rapp, Byron Curry, Arthur Tiernan, Hubert Nalle, Paul Ragan, Paul Olmstead, George Calhoun, M. E. Geeling, Aldria Worswick, of this city, and Mrs. Anne of Los Angeles and Mrs. Sawyer of Fullerton and the hostess, Mrs. Lane.

Sewing Club Has Pleasant Afternoon

Inter-Se club members were entertained at luncheon Friday afternoon as guests of Mrs. Ada Spencer, 809 South Broadway. The menu was served at one large table appointed with rose glassware and decorated with many flowers.

Afternoon hours were devoted to sewing, with most of those present doing embroidery. Two new members, Mrs. Ethel Brown and Mrs. Ruth Johnston, were voted into the club.

Those present, other than Mrs. Spencer, were Mesdames Olga Martin, Etta Cannon, Blanche Chandler, Louise Aubrey, Viva McCarter, Ella Smith, Gwen Morris and May Nelson.

TAILOR-MADE MAN

William Haines returns to Santa Ana today in his latest feature picture, "The Tailor Made Man." The show opens at the Fox West Coast theater. Dorothy Jordan is the girl in the plot.

"TAILOR MADE MAN" STARTS AT WEST COAST

This has been called the ultra-modern in pictures, as far as America is concerned. It includes a remedy for present business troubles in a tabloid lesson wedged into a collection of hilarious laughing situations. It depicts a delicate love story and a very dramatic adventure of a youth who applies the good old American grit to a bad situation. Information is Haines abandons smart cracking to a considerable extent to give a very earnest and serious performance—though he manages to get in as many laughs as he usually does.

The story is one of a youngster who becomes an executive of a big concern and high-pressures business depression out of it. He high-pressures himself into the heart of the lady he loves, as well.

Dorothy Jordan plays the heroine.

BARRYMORE CALLS LARGE AUDIENCES

Last night's audience, at the Fox Broadway theater greeted with enthusiastic approval, John Barrymore's latest characterization, "Svengali," the master hypnotist of "Tribby," which was such a sensation both as a novel and as a play a generation ago.

George Du Maurier who wrote "Tribby" also illustrated it, and Mr. Barrymore has faithfully followed the artist in his makeup. In the wild-eyed mesmerist with lanky hair hanging to his shoulders and matted beard which the sinister fingers forever nervously caress—there is no trace of the debonair Barrymore who is acknowledged to be the greatest of the screen's great lovers.

The romance of Tribby, the beautiful model, who unwittingly falls victim to the evil magic of Svengali, is one of those stories which seem to possess eternal youth, like those of Faust and Marguerite or Beauty and the Beast.

The portrayal of Tribby by Marian Marsh is doubly amazing when it is known that she is but 18 and makes her screen debut in the difficult role, which requires the whole range of emotion. To exquisite flowerlike beauty of face

The bunch played on the bridge a while. The Travel Man then, with a smile, said, "Well, I think we've had enough of China for this trip. What say we move along our way and head for some place else today? We'll reach the next place where we'll stop, upon a great big ship."

Then Clowny cried, "Where is it? Gee, I love to sail right out to sea. What stretch of water will we cross and how long will it take? I'd like a cabin all alone, that I can call my very own. I hope I'll ride a quiet sea and watch no breakers break."

"My goodness," said the Travel Man. "I guess you've said all that you can, so now I'll tell you where we're bound. We're going to Japan! I've arranged for everything. I hope a lot of fun 'twill bring. The boat awaits. We'll get aboard as quickly as we can."

And so, it wasn't long at all until the Times heard the call of,

"All aboard. Then off they sailed to Japan far away. They sailed across the Yellow Sea, which was as calm as it could be. On entering the Korea Strait, the whole bunch cried, "Hurray!"

At last the boat began to stop and when they heard the gangplank drop, wee Scouty shouted, "Come on, lads! We're in Kyoto now! I'm sure that we are welcome here and there is not one thing to fear. We can't talk Japanese, but we will get along somehow."

Kyoto was a pretty place and Clowny said, "Let's have a race right up to town, so we can eat. We'll all have tummy aches." Soon, on a small side street, they found a dandy place. They gathered round and stood right in the open, eating very good rice cakes. (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)

Hopeful New Effort to Save Babies

By JANE STAFFORD

PROFESSOR ALFRED CALMETTE of the Pasteur Institute, Paris, and his disciples throughout France are feeding live tuberculosis germs to day-old babies to give them immunity to tuberculosis.

In Baltimore, at the Harriet Lane Home of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, vaccination with killed tuberculosis germs is being practised on a specially selected group of babies to increase their resistance to the great white plague.

Which method is best?

Scientists disagree on this, and not gently. Most dramatic, perhaps, is the method of the Frenchman; daring, as befits its war background, and successful, its friends claim.

The latest is the method developed and now being tried by conservative American scientists. The Baltimore institution is the first in this country, so far as is known, to start vaccination of babies with heat-killed tuberculosis organisms.

Both methods are directed especially toward those unfortunate infants who are born of tuberculous parents. Babies do not inherit the disease, but they have no resistance to it during the first few days of their life. If they are constantly exposed to it, every time their mothers feed and tend them or every time their fathers kiss them, they are almost certain to contract the disease.

Such babies must be taken from their parents at birth and kept in foster homes or hospitals where there is no contact with tuberculosis, if they are to escape it. Gradually they will build up a resistance to the disease, just as children born of non-tuberculous parents do.

ALL of you have been exposed to tuberculosis at one time or another, but relatively few of you succumb. Tuberculosis germs, a few at a time, invade your bodies. Each of these invasions is resisted and overcome by the defensive forces of your body, and with each victory, these defensive forces grow a little stronger and your chances of succumbing to the tubercle bacilli and contracting the disease become a little less.

Of course, if you are tired out, run down, have had a long siege of illness or a severe operation, your body's defense is weakened, and if the tubercle bacilli select that time for an invasion, they are more likely to survive and grow. Then you may find yourself having tuberculosis.

Now if tubercle bacilli, in small numbers at a time, are deliberately introduced into a new-born baby's body, it may hasten the development of the baby's defensive forces so that he will be able to withstand the invasions of quite large numbers of virulent TB germs to which he will be exposed if his parents or some member of his immediate family has the disease.

Professor Calmette's method of immunizing babies to tuberculosis follows this line of reasoning. So does the recently developed method of American investigators. The trick is to use tuberculosis germs which cannot cause disease even in a baby's tender body and which at the same time are able to set up a defense reaction in the body.

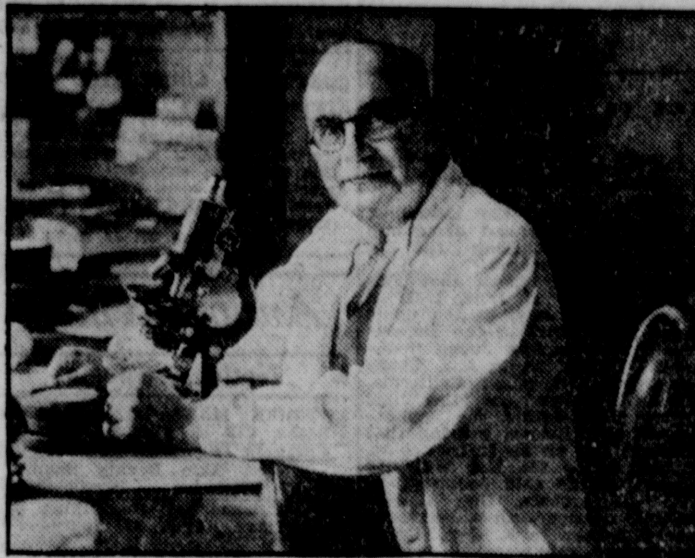

For many years, ever since 1882 when Robert Koch discovered the tubercle bacilli, the germ which causes tuberculosis, scientists have been searching for a way to make a protective vaccine or dose of these bacilli. Koch himself tried and thought he had succeeded. Terrible was the disappointment when his method failed.

PROFESSOR CALMETTE did not at first hope to immunize babies to the white plague. He, along with scientists in other parts of the world, was busying himself with the problem of how animals got tuberculosis. Not such an impractical problem, since many tuberculosis cases in children develop from drinking milk of tuberculous cows. Working hard in his laboratory at Lille in northern France in the dark days of 1914, Professor Calmette hardly knew there was a war being fought all around him. He was far more concerned with getting his germs to growing properly for his investigations than he was in the roar of the big guns. He had grown used to danger, scorned it. The minute organisms he worked with constantly in his laboratory had just as much danger packed into their tiny forms as any 16-inch shell.

Besides, he was making remarkable discoveries. In 1908 he had planted tubercle bacilli from cows on a new kind of culture medium made from ox bile, glycerine and potato. To his surprise, he found that these bacilli began to lose their virulence after growing for several generations on this medium. Exploring the possibilities of this discovery made him nearly oblivious to the war and other outside considerations.

All about him spectacular happenings were taking place. He ignored them. The important thing, to him, was what was happening in his laboratory, where he studied his germs with the cold passion of a scientist.

By 1920 this strain of germs had lost its virulence for all species of animals; that is, it could be injected into guinea pigs, rabbits, cows and pigeons without causing the development of tuberculosis. Then Professor Calmette made the startling statement that vaccination with this strain—called Bacillus Calmette-Guerin after himself and his colleague who developed it—gave considerable if not complete immunity to tuberculosis as long as the organisms remained in the body of the vaccinated animal.

He kills TB germs with heat . . . and uses millions of them in vaccine. . . . Dr. S. A. Petroff, director of clinical research at Trudeau Sanatorium, N. Y.

While European scientists war over BCG serum treatment, 32 infants in Baltimore, born into tuberculous families and with little normal chance of life, have been given doses of many million heat-killed tuberculosis germs, and every case seems safely protected

PATRIOTIC French physicians seized on this announcement. Here was a way to restore France's man power, so badly depleted during the war. Babies were being born in France in goodly numbers but so many of them were dying before they reached their first birthdays. Many of these babies' mothers had tuberculosis, the result of undernourishment during their girlhood days of war and poverty. The babies were almost sure to get the disease.

So French physicians began vaccinating babies and later even the midwives gave the BCG—shorthand for Bacillus Calmette-Guerin—to babies of tuberculous parents.

The news spread and created a sensation in the medical world. In some quarters the French scientists' discovery was acclaimed and put to immediate practical use. Elsewhere, chiefly in the United States, Canada, England and Germany, scientists were more skeptical, more cautious.

More laboratory studies and more investigations with animals was the advice of the conservatives. Others, investigating Dr. Calmette's statistics and records, were not entirely satisfied that these substantiated his claims for BCG.

High in the Adirondack Mountains of New York state one of these conservatives, Dr. S. A. Petroff, has been investigating tuberculosis for years. The peace of the pine woods surrounding his laboratory makes a mighty contrast to the stormy scene of Professor Calmette's investigations. A war is being fought around Dr. Petroff, too, but it is the silent, day-by-day fighting of scientists with disease and Dr. Petroff is keenly alive to every move.

It is at this laboratory that the vaccine was developed which is being used to protect Baltimore babies from tuberculosis. A peculiarly fitting place for its development and production, if this vaccine should turn out to be the means of saving American babies from the white plague. For it was on this Adirondack hillside that Edward L. Trudeau founded his famous cottage sanatorium, first of its kind in the world, and it was here that he introduced onto the American continent open air treatment for the disease that takes so many lives each year.

ON this historic spot, Dr. Petroff and his associates of the Trudeau Research and Clinical Laboratories, hearing of Professor Calmette's claims for BCG, started investigations of their own. But their studies, with a strain imported directly from the Pasteur Institute, increased their skepticism about BCG.

They had previously found that tubercle bacilli, like some other bacteria, changed their form when grown on different kinds of culture media. Dissociation, scientists call this change. In the course of dissociation, a strain of harmless bacilli may develop into two strains, one harmless and one dangerous.

Dr. Petroff and associates were able to dissociate the BCG strain, getting one harmless strain, one small, virulent strain, and an intermediate one. They felt this might explain some peculiar occurrences in the course of their experiments.

Guinea pigs vaccinated with BCG, for instance, had occasionally developed tuberculosis, even though apparently free from all contact with the disease and supposedly protected from it by the BCG. Dissociation of BCG into a harmless and a harmful strain might account for this. And if it could dissociate in a guinea pig's body, it might likewise dissociate in a baby's.

They decided that the living tubercle bacillus was too uncertain an element to be injected or fed to babies. The only good tubercle bacillus is a dead one, is their contention. And they proceeded to make what they consider a safe vaccine of tubercle bacilli that have been killed by heat. After many experiments with animals, they found they had a vaccine that protected against infection with living tuberculosis germs.

In March, 1929, they said "We believe that the use of a vaccine of heat killed tubercle bacilli can be put into practical use for the immunization of children. Good results may be anticipated by their use."

This vaccine has been used for a year now at the Harriet Lane Home, the children's division of Johns Hopkins Hospital. Hopeful results have just been announced by Dr. Edwards A. Park, director of Harriet Lane, and Dr. Francis P. Schwenker, who made the vaccinations.

He used the BCG vaccine for babies in New York . . . and is now using Dr. Petroff's vaccine. . . . Dr. William H. Park, director of laboratories of the New York City Health Department.

SO hopeful, in fact, are they that they plan to vaccinate all Baltimore babies born of tuberculous families, although as yet they have not enough money to carry out such an extensive program.

It was the dreadful disaster in Lubeck, Germany, which inspired these Johns Hopkins investigators to introduce vaccination with dead bacilli. They, with the rest of the world, had been hopefully watching the BCG experiments, thinking that perhaps here was the long-wanted way to protect babies from tuberculosis, but not yet convinced and determined to move only with a good deal of caution.

Even now, they state, they are not "taking sides." But they are taking no chances of actually giving babies tuberculosis, and the Lubeck affair showed that there was a risk with BCG.

In this German town, 246 babies were given cultures of living tuberculosis organisms. Seventy-three of the babies died.

An official investigation exonerated completely Professor Calmette's cultures and his method. The disaster was due to contamination of the cultures after they left Professor Calmette's laboratory, a slip in laboratory technique. Yet it is apparent that the use of BCG is not entirely safe, not fool-proof.

In Baltimore, 32 new-born babies of tuberculous families have been vaccinated with Dr. Petroff's vaccine during the last year. Not one of them has developed tuberculosis.

Thirty million dead tuberculosis germs were given these babies every three days until they had each had four doses. The babies are kept in the hospital or in foster homes, away from all contact with tuberculosis, until the tuberculin test, made every two weeks, shows that they have acquired resistance to the disease.

Twenty-one vaccinated babies have gone back into such tuberculous homes. In some of them a member of the household has an open case of tuberculosis and is giving off live, virulent tubercle bacilli in his sputum. Ordinarily under such conditions, two out of every three babies develop the disease. But not one of the 21 vaccinated babies has.

THE Johns Hopkins scientists do not say definitely that these babies develop an immunity to tuberculosis. What they get is the same immunity as they would have gotten at the age of 15 or 16 if they had grown up in constant contact with live tubercle bacilli in small doses, but with all the hazard of the latter situation eliminated.

Now Dr. William H. Park, director of laboratories of the New York City Health Department, has started vaccinating babies with Dr. Petroff's vaccine. Dr. Park has been one of the few scientists in this country to use BCG for babies.

Some scientists think that all our knowledge of tuberculosis and all the attempts to produce a protective vaccine show that the disease is not like typhoid fever or scarlet fever or smallpox, and that no vaccine can ever be produced to immunize against it. They claim that the only way to protect babies from tuberculosis is to remove the babies from their tuberculous families at birth and to raise them carefully in non-tuberculous surroundings until they are grown-up and have developed a natural resistance.

This was a game pitched by George Blaeholder of Garden Grove, and Austin's judgment was questioned in the last of the ninth inning when he allowed Blaeholder to bat for himself with Rick Ferrell on first base and nobody out. The second guessers thought Austin should have used a pinch-hitter for Dig George.

SOLID FINANCIAL FOUNDATIONS

A few days ago our city, and in fact, Southern California was quite startled, and in a measure plunged into some gloom, to learn that the Fidelity Savings and Loan Company had, owing to financial strain, been taken over by the Pacific States Savings and Loan Company.
The details of the story showed that in all probability 75 per cent at least of the deposi-tor's money was insured, with a very possible saving of a portion or all of the rest. It would seem, on examination of the facts, that when the condition of affairs had become known, the wisest possible course was pursued, and the interests of the many investors were protected.
While undoubtedly some of the investors will suffer temporary embarrassment, yet it should be borne in mind that at worst it is only temporary, and that if this plan is carried out, their savings are assured.

The facts, however, have been the cause of innumerable stories of individual incidents of misplaced confidence being told, and these add to the undermining of confidence generally in all financial institutions and their leaders. We have not followed up the sources of the stories in this particular case, but we have in hundreds of other cases, and found that a large percentage of them have no basis in fact, and that a large proportion of the balance have only the faintest basis from which a story grew, and grew in all directions, so that it was difficult to even trace any elements of truth in it whatever.

We would point out that this is not only manifestly very unfair and unjust, but it adds to the difficulties of everyone who is endeavoring to re-establish that faith and confidence which are so imperative for the return of normal business. We have said on other occasions, and repeat, that men do not change from honest, sincere, dependable citizens into rogues overnight. Mistakes may be made, but stories based upon the theory that honest and dependable citizens of unblemished record for many years have turned crooks, can be counted upon 99 times out of a hundred to be untrue.
We have been at the head of newspapers in the business of tracing rumors to their sources for many years, and very rarely have we found any reason to have our faith shaken in the statements we have just made. Southern California is not in the boom conditions of a few years ago here in the west. But our citizens should know that we are in infinitely better condition, and have been for months, than almost any other portion of the United States.

Falling prices and frightened investors seriously injure all financial institutions whose investments are in real property, or almost any other property, and the conditions in eastern communities reflect the same kind of a situation, only much worse. Our people should, however, realize that in all probability the chances of making money by speculation, through rapidly increasing values of either real estate or stocks are indeed very small, and will only be in isolated cases.

Conditions here in the West are becoming more like the conditions in the East in that respect. Heretofore, it has been almost impossible to lose, regardless of judgment used in investment, in real estate. In consequence, each buyer has sold at a big advance in turn to a new purchaser and the faith of the new purchaser whom the buyer himself believed he was imposing upon, has been justified by his ability to transfer it to another at further increased prices. At times it has amounted to an orgy of buying and selling and of speculation.

We might as well recognize that those times are gone and gone forever. And in the interest of good business, good character and substantial progress, we are not sorry to see them go. Normal business and reliable communities are built up upon those elements of personal worth which are neither initiated nor developed by that "wild" kind of business, and after all the personal element is the most valuable element in society.

It hasn't required brains under the circumstances which have existed to make money. All it needed was cash, and many times not that, credit alone would do. Men often became wealthy and received credit for brains in accomplishing that feat, when it was merely the accident of a rapidly increasing population over which they had no control themselves.

Character, sound judgment and being worthy of the confidence of men are more valuable requisites in our economic life today in the west than ever before. Under this old condition, with everything booming, some of these virtues seemed hardly necessary for the purpose of making financial successes. But today heads of business institutions, investment companies and financial institutions, are putting their houses in order. They know full well that the public, the investors, are going to exercise a greater discrimination and look to those elements of personal worth in individuals whose advice and judgment they are following. And these institutions will see to it that such men head up their active workers. The investors will insist on knowing that the ones whom they seek out for advice are not profiting themselves by the decisions which the investors make as to where they shall place their money, except as such profit shall be open and clear to the investors themselves.

Those responsible for our financial institutions are recognizing that the public will demand here, as they are doing elsewhere, that all the facts and conditions must be known concerning the affairs in which people invest; that directors must direct; that reports shall reflect the actual conditions; that unfortunate conditions or mistakes or worse shall not be hid, nor figures be juggled. Men who can be trusted along these lines shall be employed to conduct the affairs.

Santa Ana has its share of able, far-seeing, thoroughly dependable men, and the people of Santa Ana are thoroughly familiar with this fact. There are those institutions that are founded upon these very ideas, and the men who are conducting them are jealous of their activities and their reputations. The present conditions will emphasize those elements of worth and value in such men and institutions as will benefit our city and county.

The elements which go for the developing of the finest society and placing merit at the highest premium are in Santa Ana in full measure.
Instead of being alarmed over the present conditions, we should have been alarmed over the conditions which at times formerly existed.

We are at the opening of a better day, of a more substantial day, of a more reliable day, not of secrecy or hiding or of fear, but of progress and frankness and courage. These will make for strong and dependable institutions. Strong and dependable men must conduct them.

SOUND VIEWS FROM A GREAT WOMAN

Saturday evening Mme. Schumann-Heink delivered a powerful philippic in the interest of peace and good will in the Memorial Auditorium at Sacramento.

The story appeared in the news dispatches in yesterday's papers, and probably many of the readers are familiar with it. But many are not, and the circumstances surrounding it, the sentiment contained in the words and the position which Mme. Schumann-Heink took, were all calculated to produce such wholesome and sound opinion, that we deem the story well worth reprinting. It is as follows:

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink expressed her views on patriotism and Americanism here last night during an informal recital at exercises dedicating the lobby of the Sacramento Memorial Auditorium. Protests concerning appearance of Negro, Chinese and Japanese children at the affair prompted her remarks.

A few hours before ceremonies were to open at the Municipal Auditorium, City Manager Dean told Mme. Schumann-Heink some of the World War veterans' mothers for whom the program was arranged protested the scheduled appearance of Chinese, Japanese and Negro children along with others of foreign descent on the stage.

Schumann-Heink insisted the children be on the stage as planned and she added she is a war mother and would have something to say about patriotism and Americanism. So she turned her back upon her adult audience and, facing the bank of well-scrubbed black, yellow and white faces, crooned a mother's lullaby especially for them.

The children sang with her the "Star Spangled Banner," with knowledge of all the words.
When Schumann-Heink finished her singing and after the thunderous applause died down she stepped to the footlights and in broken English delivered her sermon:

"The good God said, 'suffer the little children to come unto Me.' He didn't say 'suffer the little white children come unto Me.'
"God said, 'suffer the little black children, little yellow children, the little brown children—all little children—to come unto Me.'"

Then she launched into another trend.
"As a war mother I know what it means to suffer. I gave five sons, four to Uncle Sam and one to his old Fatherland."

"It is up to the war mothers to teach their children the love of law—and not make a difference between black, or yellow, or brown, or white skins."

"Don't make a difference in race or creed. You make war among yourselves—through your children."

Mme. Schumann-Heink's sentences were repeatedly interrupted by bursts of applause.

Yesterday we heard a sermon on the prayer of our martyred president, Abraham Lincoln, when he urged that this "scourge of war might speedily pass away." The preacher emphasized, among other ideas, the thought that the spirit of international good will and peace could not be furthered without the same spirit in our personal relationships. Wasn't Mme. Schumann-Heink telling her audience the same thing with a wonderful platform and background for illustrative purposes?

Bed Time Meals in the Interest of Sleep

Sleep, and how to woo it, has become an absorbing topic to psychologists. As they publish their findings and recommendations, newspaper readers take up the discussion. The whole thing is a lot simpler than the scientific investigators have shown, says one of these, in a letter to his newspaper.

A light meal just before retiring is the whole secret. Infants and animals, say this observer, invariably sleep after eating. Europeans—are they better sleepers than Americans?—dine late instead of early, bringing eating and sleeping closer together. Our forefathers, before night was turned to day by use of good artificial lighting, slept better than we do because they retired soon after eating.

The letter writer doesn't suggest going to bed any earlier, or putting the normal dinner hour later. His idea is merely to have a little snack thing before turning out the light.

It is a most attractive cure for insomnia. The midnight apple pie enthusiasts will hail it as great for some time. Also the younger generation, that pauses for ham and eggs at an all-night lunch stand on its way home from a round of dances,

ON THE SIDELINES

TOO LATE NOW!

Painful though panics and depressions may be, they are really curative processes.—Ex-President Simmons, of the New York Stock Exchange.

When such few stock as I possess
Go down to par and under,
If I evince my deep distress
I very grossly blunder.
I must not feel perturbed or low,
For financiers assure me
What time I watch my money go
That my hard luck will cure me.

I scan the market column now
With apprehensions horrid,
And gathering wrinkles on my brow
(The cultured word for forehead)
I shudder every time I read
A daily Wall Street letter,
And yet I shouldn't, for indeed,
Next time I shall know better.

I ought to think, as through the Street
I sometimes sadly amble,
That I was somewhat indiscreet
When I began to gamble.
Finances are a matter which No tyro ought to guess on;
The fact that I could not get rich
Has taught me quite a lesson.

I'm cured; there's not a doubt of that,
No statement could be sounder;
I'm cured, but I am also flat,
Far flatter than a flounder.
And therefore I shall end this verse
With one of those wise wheezes:
Some cures are very often worse
Than some darned bad diseases!

How Much Is Health Worth?

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

The Committee on the Costs of Medical Care announced last week that medical care costs the people of the United States about three billion dollars a year. We spend almost as much for health as we do to ride around in motor cars.

The Committee finds, further, that adequate medical care for all the people, even after all possible reduction of wastes, would cost much more than that. Some members of the Committee say three billion dollars more; some make smaller estimates; some larger; but all estimates are large. Can the United States afford to pay so much?

That question is fundamental. It is of little immediate use to go ahead defining "adequate medical care" and elaborating plans for providing such care if the country cannot afford it.

Clearly, however, the country CAN afford it.
New inventions, new discoveries, new reductions of waste, and large-scale production are constantly increasing output per man-hour. This increase is likely to go on more rapidly in the future.
Acceleration, except for such stupid and unnecessary recessions as we are now suffering, has become characteristic of economic progress.

This means that the United States will continue to have a productive capacity far in excess of any capacity which it has yet used. It will have enough men, machines, materials, and money to maintain a standard of living for wage-earners far above the highest standard of living yet attained. Estimates naturally differ; but there can be no reasonable doubt that our productive capacity, if it is intelligently used, will make possible, within two decades, a standard of living 50 per cent above the present level.
That will mean an income of about 190 billion dollars.

What share of that income shall we plan to spend on health?
How much is health worth, anyway?

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE TWILIGHT OF THE COLLEGE

A gray twilight is falling over the college of liberal arts in America.
The more I watch its present and wonder about its future the less hopeful I am for its future as a permanent and productive part of America's educational program.
Its objectives lack clarity.
Nobody seems to know just what the college of liberal arts is supposed to do.
There are no dominant and defined principles guiding the selection of the subject matters that go into its curriculum.
If its advocates persist in making its a kind of cultural vestibule to vocational training, its days are numbered, for, as the modern man knows, culture is not something that is generated in a vacuum and then liberated to give luster to the spare time a man spends outside his vocation.
There is today no vocation, above some of the meager of the manual arts, that does not have ramifications that run throughout the social order, no vocation the superb following of which does not call for the broadest possible understanding of the innumerable forces that march and coun-termarch across modern life, to make, re-make, and re-re-make the social order within the lifetime of a single generation.
It has long since become silly to suppose that there is such a thing as a "general education" that can give an equally desirable foundation for all the varied vocations of modern man.
And yet the college of liberal arts is still pursuing the ghost of this obsolete conception through the swamps of squandered time, money, and energy.
It is, I think, quite impossible to institutionalize the college of liberal arts, giving to it a set and specific program, and making it as distinctive in its offerings as are the professional schools.
If it is to survive, it must become the least formal and the most flexible unit in our educational system. It must become, at best, a halting place outside the doors of the professional schools where, under the sympathetic direction of broad scholars who are willing to forego the all-too-easily won distinctions of the specialist, students explore the modern world until their whole beings are magnetized towards some single enterprise or vocation of the modern world. The students should be free to plunge into study of that single enterprise at the end of one year or six, for there is nothing sacred about the "four year" college career.
And then, once in the study of his special interest, the student should find the training demanded of him far broader than the curriculum of any existing professional school—but this is something I shall discuss tomorrow.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

LITTER

Our streets and walks are littered with paper. Now that ought not to be. It is scarcely possible to teach adults not to litter the place.
They are hardened in their carelessness. They toss their newspapers about, toss their cigarette butts anywhere, throw tin foil and empty candy bags wherever they happen to be. But we might teach the children better ways. They are more amenable.
But how are we to teach children not to do what their grownup relatives do habitually? Unless the adult citizen wants to keep the streets clean, the parks free of litter, there is small use in lecturing the children about it. I remember once rescuing a small boy whose ardor had caused him to admonish a large man about his littering the street.
"The young monkey. Says to me, 'You ought to put your paper in the barrel.' To me. Fine respect you teach children when they correct their elders. I'll throw my papers where I like."
And one hates to put a child in an attitude of criticism toward his own people. "My father throws things out of the window," volunteered a small boy after the teacher had told the class that such actions were not considered good citizenship. "Isn't my father a good citizen?"
Of course he was. But he was a careless citizen and he had something else on his mind besides the littering of the streets. But then—and still aren't we to have clean streets? Why should they be littered from end to end with whirling paper, wads of gum, fruit skins, and tin foil? Grownups have a duty to perform to the younger generation. They should set a good example to them and lead the crusade for clean streets. Clean streets mean better health, better property values, better living standards. That means as much to grownups as to children.
When it is time for the cleanup, we are going to talk about it, and work to achieve it. The children will help. They will pick up any paper they find about the school premises, they will put their waste paper in the proper containers.
They do their best to set a good example to their elders. Perhaps their elders will lead the way.
The vacant lots ought to be cleaned up and the waste thrown there burned to clean ashes. Most of those lots could be used to advantage as playgrounds for children. The streets will be cleaner and safer if the old lots are used for playgrounds and properly supervised.
All waste paper ought to be tied in bundles and given to the man who calls for them regularly. If that were done there would be considerably less dirty paper flying about. Nothing lowers the tone of a neighborhood more than littered streets. Nothing cheapens property in a residential district as dirty littered streets and yards. Cleanliness pays in increased health, increased values all round.
The children can help, but they really are not the offenders. Nor have they the power to do the work.
The solemnity must set the pace and the standard.

tention to inquiries from parents and velopment of children. Write him in addressed envelope for reply.)

SPEECH PRAISING NAVY

On May 25, 1917, Prime Minister David Lloyd George, in the course of a speech in the House of Commons, referred to the work of the United States Navy. He said in part:
"We owe a very considerable debt of gratitude to the great American people for the effective assistance they have rendered and the craft they have placed at our disposal.
Now that the American nation is in the war it is easier to make arrangements for the protection of our mercantile marine than it was before."
The American destroyers were assigned to work hand in hand with the British squadrons. They took turns with the British boats in all routine work of patrol and convoy.
The American boats, though not as experienced as the English boats with which they co-operated, had a high average of results in submarine sighted, observations made and of wireless warnings broadcast.

HIS CAREER RUINED

At last he got a speaking part. He was supposed to reply "It is" when the tragedian uttered the words, "It is the end."
The night arrived and everything was going fine. He heard the words, "It is the end," and took up his cue.
"Is it?" he said.—Tit-Bits.

MAYBE IT'S LOVE

"No, I don't want you to marry that young fellow."
"But, dad, he's crazy about me, fairly crazy!"
"Well, I'll do my best to get him into some good institution."
